WOMAN AND HER HOME.

THE CARE OF THE NURSERY.

THE selection of a room for a nursery needs careful reflection on the part of the parents, as King Baby is very liable to show his disapproval of any discomforts, such as draughts and extremes of temperature, by dying. Parents should remember that children are like young plants, and cannot grow to maturity without light and air, and that the more they have the healthier they will be.

The worst room in the house—an attic, for instance—will not do for children. In winter the attic, being under the roof, is colder than the other rooms in the house, and in summer they are hotter. Basements are often damp, and do not admit a sufficient amount of sunshine, which both invigorates life and destroys noxious germs. A cheerful outlook is much to be desired in a nursery.

A well-known doctor once said, when remarking on the lack of pure air in nurseries: "Ventilaion is conspicuous by its absence in many nurseries; many day and night nurseries breed disease rather than children." Few parents realise that an infant is being poisoned when it inhales the vitiated atmosphere of a room. Great care should be taken to ensure a constant supply of fresh air into the nursery, and at the same time to prevent draughts from sweeping through the room.

The walls of the children's living room should be covered with special paper designed for nurseries, so as to preserve that atmosphere of cheerfulness which is so necessary for children's well-being. Patterns on which various animals can be seen entering Noah's Ark, or those that depict dogs chasing hens or duck are very suitable. Sombre, dull patterns should be given a wide berth.

The furniture of the nursery needs careful consideration. Simple and plain articles of furniture are better than those which are old or ugly. Furniture which is liable to hurt the kiddies if they jolt against it should not be introduced. The whole floor must be covered with linoleum or cork carpet, as most romps entail a liberal tumbling about on the floor. Great care should be taken to keep draughts from sweeping under the door by nailing a bit of list on the inner treshold.

It is very important to have at least two thermometers in every nursery, one hung up in the open air and one inside to test the temperature of the room. As the climate of this land is very variable, the choice of dress for a child going out for a walk should be influenced by what the thermometer shows, and not by the season. A human being is unable to gauge accurately the cold or the heat out of doors, as some people feel cold when it is quite warm and vice versa.

A good deal of ingenuity can be introduced into the making of screens for the benefit of the little ones. The screens are useful for various purposes, among which is their suitability for many games, hide-and-seek especially. A frame covered over with some cheap cloth and decorated with coloured pictures from illustrated papers is very effective, and can easily be renewed.

There are some small precautions necessary for the safety both of the nursery and its occupants. A gate, with a bolt out of the children's reach, should guard the top of the flight of stairs leading to the nursery. The fireplace in the children's rooms should be protected with a high fire-guard, and a bracket for lamp or candle should be placed on the wall high enough to be beyond reach of a child standing on a chair. Lights have a strong fascination for little people.

Stephanos.

WHAT LIES BEFORE US.

I WAS on my way to Government Buildings to see Hennessy. I may as well state at the outset that this is all a fake, one of those dreams masked as reality that a child of six can recognise at sight, and that usually irritate rather than divert the reader. So I shall spare you the account of Arminella's cheese souffle, the exciting cause of the nightmare which I here record; if I began, you would at once say, "Pooh! why can't they invent some new way of introducing their fables and prophecies; this is feeble in the extreme."

So we plunge in medias res. I was on my way to Government Buildings to see Hennessy. Hennessy is at present an underling, but by 1938 he hopes and intends to be as much of a personage as I pictured him in my dream.

In order to reach the door, I had to edge my way past the leaders of two queues that stretched away to right and left; the one composed of men and women, the other of women only.

As the porter to whom I was known beckoned me in, I noticed that several members of the left queue cast envious glances at me; they thought me unduly favoured. Hennessy soon came out, and, after attending to the business about which I had come, offered to explain to me the mystery of the waiting lines.

"This lot," he said, indicating the mixed company, "are voters waiting for the intelligence test; you see we found that no register was really satisfactory, age, residence, and so on were all liable to some objection; so in 1926 or 1928, I forget which, one of the Senators hit on a brainy idea: every one who wanted a vote has to come up for a sort of Binet test arrangement, saying numbers backwards, guessing conundrums, finding missing words, all that kind of thing. If he passes the test he gets a ticket with his photograph annexed and a number, and is allowed to vote at every election for five years; then the ticket has to be renewed. So far it has worked well, and we have experts here from cross-Channel and from several Continental countries studying the system."

"The others?" I asked.

"Oh, the ladies? They are on their way to the Powder Office—not explosive," he added considerately, noticing my look of alarm, "the other sort."

I must have looked still more bewildered; the only Powder Office of which I had ever heard was that which Talbot Twysden, Esq., decorated with his presence, and that belonged to other days and another clime.

"This office," explained Hennessy, came into being about five years ago; it issues permits to all ladies who desire to sell flags in public, assist at fancy fairs, or purchase cosmetics."

"They pay a tax, I presume," said I.

"Not at all," replied Hennessy; "the permits are issued free of charge, the only requirement is that each candidate must produce a birth certificate proving her to be at least forty-five years of age. The Bachelors' Protection Society managed to get the Act on the Statute Books."

* * *

When I told Arminella at breakfast about my dream she was unkind enough to say that I was inventing the whole thing. I do not like to accuse Arminella of malice, but I cannot help thinking that the memory of that cheese souffle had something to do with her lack of sympathy on this occasion.

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

TRIAL COLLAPSES.

NON-ATTENDANCE OF JURORS.

At the Law Courts, Dublin Castle, yesterday, in the case of Roche and another v. Harnett (seduction) and Roche (Kate) v. same (breach of promise), which was listed for trial before Mr. Justice Samuels and a city common jury,

The Associate, having exhausted the names on the jury panel, announced that only eleven jurors had responded to their names.

Mr. H. D. Conner, K.C.; Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. Binchy (instructed by Messrs. P. T. Liston and Co.) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. McElligott, K.C.; Mr. M. Comyn, K.C.; and Mr. James Comyn (instructed by Mr. H. O'B. Moran) appeared for the defendant.

Mr. McElligott, K.C., said that it would be necessary for him to challenge one juror.

Mr. Conner, K.C.—I am afraid that we may have one juror challenged also.

Mr. Justice Samuels said that to try such a case with only nine jurors was a serious matter. He understood that the parties had been in Court for several days. Under these circumstances, he would try the case without a jury, if the parties consented, but in a case like that it was very unusual.

Mr. Conner, K.C. said that he would be prepared to go on without a jury.

Mr. Justice Samuels—I see there are two cases here?

Mr. Conner, K.C.—One is an action for seduction, and the other is for breach of promise of marriage.

Mr. Justice Samuels—Would they require to be tried separately?

Mr. Conner said that in any case more than one case could not be tried that day.

Mr. Justice Samuels—I can see nothing under the circumstances, except to discharge the jury. They are not cases for a judge to hear prima facie at all. There are a very large number of cases at these sittings, and if this is to be the attendance of jurors it means a complete breakdown. I can only adjourn this case until Monday next, and discharge the jurors who have attended until Monday. All the jurors whose names have been called, and who have not attended, will be fined £5 each. These fines will be increased if there is not an attendance of jurors on Monday.

THE BURNING OF GRANARD.

In the King's Bench Division, Mr. Alfred A. Murphy, of 18 Nassau street, Dublin, sued twelve of the residents of the town of Granard to recover the amount of fees which, he alleges, are due to him as architect for valuations made by him in connection with destroyed premises; and the actions were listed yesterday before Mr. Justice Dodd on motions on behalf of the plaintiff for final judgment for various sums, and on motions on behalf of some of the defendants against whom claims for over £50 were made, to have these actions remitted to the County Court Judge of Longford for hearing.

Mr. Conner, K.C., and Mr. Sullivan (instructed by Messrs. Arthur Cox and Company) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Geoghegan (instructed by Mr. M. M. Kenny) for Mr. Peter Heslin, whose case was first taken up.

It appeared in Mr. Heslin's case that the amount of the decree awarded to him by the County Court Judge—£5,000—was reduced by the Shaw Commission to £3,000. Mr. Heslin, in an affidavit, expressed his willingness to pay Mr. Murphy £10 in addition to the £50 already paid to him, and he stated that the other persons who employed the plaintiff were willing to pay him at the same rate, and that at the rate indicated he would be liberally recompensed for his time and skill.

Mr. Conner, K.C., said that all the defendants made the case that they were to pay only on the amount ultimately awarded by the Shaw Commission, instead of the plaintiff's charges.

Mr. Justice Dodd held that this was not a case in which he should make an order for final judgment. He made an order that this and all the other actions be tried by a judge without a jury, with one set of briefs, the costs, including the costs of the present application, to be dealt with by the judge who tried the actions.

CREDITOR APPOINTED RECEIVER

In the King's Bench Division, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the case of Mary Ellen Murphy, trading as Murphy and Company, of 4 Bridge street, Waterford, v. Andrew Phelan, of Patrick street, Tramore,

Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Messrs. P. A. Murphy and Co.), for the plaintiff, applied for an order appointing his client receiver by way of equitable execution over a sum of £627, payable to the defendant. The action had been brought to recover the price of coal sold and delivered to the defendant. The plaintiff in an affidavit stated that by an order of the Court, dated 15th June, 1923, it was adjudged that she should recover against the defendant £64 18s. for debt and £8 2s. 9d. costs, together with interest. The judgment remained unsatisfied, and no payment on foot of it had been received.

The defendant was about to be paid by the Irish Free State Government £627, the amount of compensation moneys in respect of criminal injury to his property.

Mr. Justice Powell granted the application.

JURY'S FAILURE TO AGREE.

The hearing concluded before Mr. Justice Pim and a city common jury of an action in which Mr. Patrick Caulfield, a farmer, of Smithboro', Co. Monaghan, sued John McDermott, coach builder and motor proprietor, of Dublin street, Monaghan, to recover £1,000 damages for personal injuries sustained in a collision between the defendant's motor car and a motor cycle ridden by the plaintiff near Monaghan on June 25, 1922, plaintiff sustaining a compound fracture of the leg and other injuries.

Mr. Serjeant Hanna and Mr. Lardner, K.C., and Mr. Cecil Lavery (instructed by Messrs. Lardner and Co.) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. A. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Geoghegan (instructed by Mr. J. J. Keegan) appeared for the defendant.

The jury, after an absence of forty-five minutes, failed to agree as to a verdict, and were discharged.

Mr. Justice Pim asked on what questions the jury failed to agree.

The foreman said that they were equally divided on every question submitted to them by the judge.

THE PRICE OF BULLOCKS.

At the Law Courts, Dublin Castle, before Mr. Justice Samuels, sitting without a jury, an action was heard in which John Kangley, of Dundalk, Co. Louth, sued J. E. Geraghty, of Whitewood, Kilmainhamwood, Co. Meath, executor of his brother, Patrick Geraghty, deceased, to recover £30 balance, alleged to be due on the sale of eight bullocks. The bullocks were sold by the plaintiff to the deceased at the Kingscourt fair in May, 1919, and the plaintiff alleged that the price of the cattle was £16 5s. per head, making a total of £130, of which £100 was paid, leaving a balance of £30 due, for which the plaintiff had taken these proceedings. The defence was that the sum of £100 had been paid in final discharge of the liability, and the question to be decided was the price of the bullocks at the time of the sale. Patrick Geraghty died, leaving two farms, one of five acres and the other of nine acres, and a public-house.

Mr. Justice Samuels said that the defendant was quite entitled to contest the case, as the claim was against the estate of a deceased person, and he wished to be satisfied, as executor, about this claim. His lordship said that he was satisfied that the price of the cattle was £130, and he gave a decree for the balance of £30, and he thought that the defendant was entitled to recover his costs out of the estate.

Mr. Serjeant Hanna and Mr. Geoghegan (instructed by Mr. Ml. Hearty) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by Mr. Thomas Noonan) appeared for the defendant.

SCHOOL TEACHER'S DEATH.

WIDOW'S STORY.

In the Probate Court, before Mr. Justice Dodd, in the goods of Thomas Park, deceased—Elizabeth M. Park, of Montgomery street, Carlow, v. Marcus Park, of Athy street, Carlow,

Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Mr. Hugh O'Donnell) applied on behalf of Mrs. Park, the plaintiff, for an order that the caveat entered in the matter by the defendant be set aside, that letters of administration of all the personal estate and effects of the deceased be granted to the plaintiff, and that the defendant should pay to the plaintiff the costs of the motion.

Mr. Hughes moved on the affidavit of his client, Mrs. Park, who stated that she was the widow of the deceased, Thomas Park, who died intestate and without issue at Carlow on the 11th September, 1922. For some time prior to their marriage Thomas Park was a school teacher at St. Chad's School, Cheltham Hill, Manchester, where he lived up to the date of their marriage. His father, Marcus Park, who is an engineer, and the other members of his family then lived, and still live, at Athy street, Carlow. She and her late husband were married at Gorey Catholic Church on the 26th July, 1922, with the full approval of his parents, who attended the wedding. Her husband became ill during the honeymoon, and they at once returned to Carlow, where her husband died on the 11th September. The sole assets of her late husband, so far as she could ascertain, consisted of a policy of assurance on his life effected with the Union Life Branch of the Commercial Union Assurance Company, Ltd., which was valued at £109 at the time of his death, and his clothes and small personal effects. On the 7th December, 1922, being within three months after her husband's death, she applied for letters of administration of his personal estate and effects to the District Probate Registry at Kilkenny, and she was subsequently informed that the grant could not be issued to her without an order of the Court, because a caveat had been entered, and also an application for a grant of administration to her husband's personal estate had been lodged by Marcus Park, who, with his family, had evinced great hostility to her immediately after her husband's death and ever since.

Her solicitor, Mr. Hugh O'Donnell, of Carlow, on her instructions, wrote to Marcus Park inquiring as to her husband's assets, and received a reply, dated 9th October, 1922, stating that the deceased's assets were nil. She had great difficulty in ascertaining the whereabouts of the assurance policy, for when she wrote to the family of her deceased husband for the name of the company with which her husband was insured they refused to disclose the name or to give her any information in reference to the matter.

She had, however, since ascertained elsewhere the particulars, but any delay which occurred in applying for the grant was due to difficulties placed in the way of her ascertaining definitely the assets of deceased and to a lengthy correspondence between Marcus Park, junior, the eldest son of Marcus Park (the defendant), and herself.

Prior to her marriage she was a civil servant in the Post Office at Carlow, from which she retired on marriage. She had since been taken back, but at a reduced salary, as she had lost her appointment and seniority, and she rejoined as a temporary assistant. At the time of the marriage she spent £120 of her savings on the wedding and on household requisites. There was no person interested in her husband's assets but herself. There were no children of the marriage.

It was stated by a solicitor's representative that Mr. Bacon was appearing for the defendant.

Mr. Bacon, having been sent for, came into court, and said that he understood that he had been mentioned as opposing this application. He had no instructions on it. He had advised on the matter that the motion should be allowed to go by default. He had been asked to come in and say that.

Mr. Justice Dodd—If he says the assets are nil, there was no reason for his entering a caveat.

Mr. Bacon—The assets were nil, inasmuch as his son had a claim against the assets for more than the amount of the assets, and some misunderstanding on his part led to his entering a caveat.

Mr. Justice Dodd made an order setting aside the caveat, with costs.

THE PRICE OF FILMS.

Before Mr. Justice Dodd, without a jury, yesterday, the case of Fox Film Company, Ltd., v. the Irish Kinematograph Company, Ltd., was heard.

The action was brought by the plaintiffs, who have their registered offices at 13 Berners street, London, against the defendants, who have their registered office at 12 Upper Sackville street, Dublin, to recover the sum of £516 10s., the amount alleged to be due by the defendants to the plaintiffs under contracts for the hiring of certain films by the defendants from the plaintiffs.

Alternatively the plaintiffs claimed £516 10s. as damages for breach of contract by the defendants. The plaintiffs alleged that the defendants entered into written contracts with them for the hire of a number of films to be exhibited at the defendants' picture houses in Mary street and O'Connell street, Dublin, which were duly forwarded to the defendants, and the defendants refused to pay for them.

The defendants, in their defence, alleged that a guarantee that the Irish Censor would approve of the pictures, which formed a condition of the contract, had not been supplied, and that the plaintiffs had not stipulated to give "first run" in Ireland. The defendants cancelled the contracts on these grounds.

It was stated that, after having repudiated the contract, the defendants got films elsewhere.

Serjeant Hanna, Mr. Swayne, K.C., and Mr. Dockrell (instructed by Messrs. Taylor, Son, and Robinson) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Carrigan, K.C., and Mr. Vincent Rice (instructed by Messrs. James L. Bourke and Co.) for the defendants.

Mr. Justice Dodd gave judgment for the plaintiffs for £90 in addition to a sum lodged in Court in respect of contracts for the Mary street Picture House, and dismissed the claim in respect of contracts for the Grand Central Cinema. He gave the plaintiffs the costs of the action, less costs in respect of the contracts on which the defendants succeeded.

ACTION AGAINST A KILDARE FARMER.

The Lord Chief Justice and a special jury of the City of Dublin were engaged for the greater part of the past two days in the hearing of an action for damages brought by Daniel Beegan (labourer) and his wife, of Newtownmacabe, Co. Kildare, against Robert Huddleston, farmer, of Barberstown, Straffan, for that he had, as alleged, assaulted Mary Anne Beegan, the female plaintiff, on the 31st of October last, as she was crossing a part of the defendant's land. The defendant denied the charge, and said that the story told by the plaintiffs was a complete fabrication.

In the result the jury found a verdict for the defendant, and the Lord Chief Justice expressed his thorough approval of the verdict. His lordship gave judgment for the defendant, with costs.

NEW SOLICITOR.

Mr. B. J. D. O'Kelly, eldest son of Mr. B. D. O'Kelly, barrister-at-law, late of the Irish Land Commission, has been admitted as a solicitor. Mr. O'Kelly secured first place at the final examination held in May, and was awarded a special certificate.

FINGLAS ROAD POST OFFICE.

RESIDENTS' REPLY TO MR. WALSH.

Messrs. P. W. Robertson (Director, Alexander Thom and Co.), Alderman J. Hubbard Clark (High Sheriff), R. B. Allshire, M.P.S.I. (Glasnevin Pharmacy), John J. Kelly (Botanic House), J. J. Hart (Hart's Stores), and Patrick Hedigan (Brian Boru House) have addressed a letter to us, in which they reply to the Postmaster-General's statement of his reasons for the closing of the Finglas road Sub-Post Office. They point out that the office was established 20 years ago, when the district was thinly populated; that since then the place has grown into a busy centre, that last year Messrs. Thom, Government printers, opened a factory there, and that Messrs. Player are now building another factory, that the Tramway Company has instituted special services to meet the requirements of this area, and that, instead of stopping the small services of the sub-post office, Mr. Walsh should establish a telegraph, money and public telephone call office to meet the needs of what is a populous and growing area of the city.

A PAGE FOR FARMERS.

The special page of agricultural news and problems in yesterday's (Friday's) issue of this paper contained matter of very considerable interest to the industry. Among subjects which were treated were:—"Peat Land for Crops and Fuel," "Silage as a Substitute for Roots," "Heavy Pigs," "Marketing of Eggs," "Afforestation in Ireland," "List of Coming Events and Irish Fairs," "A Seedsman's Message," etc., etc. An article from a "Special Correspondent" dealt with some very important considerations which arise out of the present conflict of interests between farmers and agricultural labour in the Free State.

The price of "Ireland's Own" will be reduced to 2d. per copy next week. Many new features, including competitions, have been added recently.

M. Masaryk, President of Czecho-Slovakia, arrived at Lama Castle, his country residence near Prague, on Thursday. He is stated to be in very good health.

DEFAULTING RATEPAYERS.

MILITARY PROTECTION FOR COLLECTORS.

Following the warning given by Commissioner Monahan at his sitting in Tralee last week that the military would assist the collectors in making seizures in the case of defaulting ratepayers, soldiers with bailiffs visited the defaulters in the Castleisland, Castlemaine, Killflynn, Ballybunion, and Lixnaw districts yesterday, and made seizures of cattle and horses. In most cases the defaulters paid up before the cattle were removed from the lands. In a couple of cases the seized animals were brought to Tralee before the owners paid and the stock were released.

Special infantry were simultaneously engaged in executing decrees for private debts in the Ardfert, Ballyheigue, Ballyduff, Kilflynn, Farmer's Bridge, Doon, and Abbeydorney districts. In all cases the amounts of the decrees were paid. No trouble was experienced in any instance.

Cattle and horses which were found trespassing on the lands of Colonel Nash, Ballycarthy, Tralee, and the lands of Mr. Talbot Crosbie, Ardfert, were seized in the early hours of yesterday morning. The stock were sent to Dublin to be sold.

SEIZURES IN CO. MONAGHAN.

A special infantry column of the National Army, acting in conjunction with the Civic Guard and the Under Sheriff of the County, has been engaged in County Monaghan this week executing decrees. Seizures were made in several cases in South Monaghan. The decrees were chiefly for traders' accounts. On Wednesday the same column was out sweeping the Dragan district in search of poteen, and yesterday they visited the Scotstown area for the same purpose.

COURSES IN AGRICULTURE.

The attention of farmers is directed to the courses in agriculture to be provided by the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction during the year 1923-1924, concerning which farmers' sons should obtain particulars, with a view to taking advantage of one or other of them. Courses in horticulture and creamery management are provided for students who desire instruction in these branches. PRODUCE AND FOOD.

CATTLE.

BIRKENHEAD, Friday.—There was a larger supply of cattle on offer to-day. The demand was very poor, the top price for best bullocks being [illegible]; but this figure was exceeded for a few choice heifers; secondary qualities 9d. to 9½d., cows 5d. to 7d., bulls 6d. to 7d. A clearance was not effected. Lambs met a very slow trade; the extreme price for best quality was 1/4 down to 1/2 for other sorts. On offer—954 cattle and 2,979 lambs.

MARK LANE, Friday.—There was a small attendance of buyers at the week-end market, and only a limited business transpired. Prices are largely nominal owing to the difficulty in obtaining deliveries from the docks. For parcels actually available, however, fully steady rates were required. WHEAT—English in small supply, and suitable milling grades firm at 10/10 to 11/4, with inferior 3/6 to 9/10 per cwt. f.o.r. Imported—No. 1 N. Manitoba afloat quoted 49/3 to 49/6, No. 2 mixed Durum 46/-, Rosafe 62½lbs. 47/9, choice white Karachi 47/6, and red ditto 46/9 all ex ship per 496lbs. FLOUR in moderate demand at late rates; London standard straight run quoted 40/-, patents 42/- to 43/-, and Town Households 38/- per sack delivered in Metropolitan area. OATMEAL in less demand, and tendency easier; London-made all cuts 18/-, rolled oats and whole groats 18/-, flaked oats 18/6 ex mill, ordinary Scottish oatmeal 19/6 to 20/6, and American all cuts 17/6 per cwt.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.—WHEAT—Following lower quotations from America and the Argentine, speculative positions of wheat here were easier at the outset, and distant positions afterwards further gave way, and, with discouraging afternoon cables, showed a heavy decline at the finish. Current month, however, showed only a moderate decline owing to the transport workers' strike. C.i.f. parcels of No. 1 Manitoba arrived sold 45/9, afloat 45/4½ to 45/3, shipping and July 45/3, July-August 45/1½, C.W. Karachi afloat 45/3, No. 2 mixed Durum shipping 42/-, and Baril arrived 43/10½ per quarter. C.i.f. parcels of MAIZE River Plate afloat sold 35/6, about sailing 34/3, May-June 34/1½, June-July 33/10½, July-August, August-September, and September-October 33/9 per quarter. Wheat on the spot in better request at about 2d. to 2½d. per cental over Tuesday's, owing to fears of the transport workers' strike spreading, but Australia was lower owing to recent arrivals. Maize spot parcels met a moderate demand at Tuesday's prices for American mixed, but 1d. dearer, River Plate being quoted 8/2½, 8/3, 7/11½, and 8/- per cental, respectively. FLOUR quiet, and in some cases favoured buyers. Graded red wheat futures opened 3d. per cental lower for distant positions, further gave way, and closed 1½d. to 1¾d. lower, with July only ½d. lower. Maize options nominal.

DERBY, Friday.—Hay season kept farmers away, and consequently practically no supplies on offer. Wheat was quoted at 11/1; barley and oats unchanged.

WAKEFIELD, Friday.—Thin attendance and light supplies. Wheat trade slightly better at 10/9 to 11/- per cwt., oats 10/- to 11/- per cwt., and grinding barley 7/6 to 8/-. Feeding stuffs easier.

PROVISIONS.

LONDON, Friday.—BUTTER—As generally anticipated, recent lower and attractive prices led to buyers taking more interest in affairs during the week, and this imparted more steadiness in general. In view of the dock strike, it was only natural to find cold store stocks, so far as obtainable, receiving more support. New Zealand finest salted quoted 154/- to 158/-, unsalted 156/- to 160/-, Australian finest salted 144/- to 148/-, good to fine 130/- to 140/-, inferior 120/- to 128/-, unsalted ranging from 120/- to 148/-; Argentine 130/- to 138/-, Irish creamery 144/- to 148/-, ditto unsalted 148/- to 150/-, factories 120/- to 124/-, separators 134/- to 138/-, Dutch rolls 16/- to 17/- per dozen lbs.; Danish 154/- to 156/-, Dutch 142/- to 144/- per cwt.; Paris baskets 134/- to 143/-, salted ditto 126/- to 148/- per cwt., rolls 14/- to 16/- per dozen lbs. CHEESE—There was a good steady inquiry for English this week, and a firm tone prevailed. New Zealand is dearer, due to the strike at the docks, as several vessels arrived, and await discharge. Dutch descriptions met a slow inquiry. Of English, finest farmers quoted 110/- to 112/-, fine 90/- to 100/-, loaf 106/- to 112/-, factory 76/- to 84/-; Canadian white 86/- to 95/-, coloured 86/- to 90/-; New Zealand white 88/- to 94/-, coloured 86/- to 95/-; Australian coloured 86/- to 90/-, Dutch Edam 40 p.c. 66/- to 74/-, 30 p.c. 58/- to 62/-, 20 p.c. 50/- to 52/-; Gouda 40 p.c. 72/- to 84/-, 30 p.c. 60/- to 64/-, 20 p.c. 46/- to 54/- per cwt. BACON—There is only a moderate amount of business proceeding, but, with supplies on the light side, the undertone of the market is one of stability. The dock strike causes a good deal of inconvenience and imparts a firm influence. No change was made in official quotations. Irish landed quoted 102/- to 118/-, Danish 97/- to 108/-, Swedish 98/- to 103/-, Canadian 86/- to 95/-, American Wiltshire cut 72/- to 80/-, Canadian cured American 80/- to 82/-. HAMS—A very steady state of affairs resulted, and business progressed with more activity than for some time past. FREEDOM.

So free is man that he cannot even wear the clothes he likes, at least only if his tastes coincide with the great majority. If you don't believe this, try walking from the Rotunda to Grafton street in pale pink Pyjamas. Or if, being a man, you wish to wear feminine attire in the streets—why the D.M.P. simply won't let you. So much for your freedom. Even if your wishes are strictly conventional, there are such things as wives and others of like calibre; and its really surprising how often in the end your choice agrees with hers—no, never hers with yours. Freedom!!! Bring along if you will wives (Turks please note), mothers, sisters, friends, and help them choose your new suit. Though there is a certain amount of horse sense in the remark of the lady who, when choosing her husband's suit, rebuked him thus: "John, you may have to wear it, but I have to look at it." And John was silent, these strong silent men—we wonder? Oh Paradise lost!—Thompson's, Tailors, for over three-quarters of a century, Dublin's oldest Tailors. Lounge Suits from 6 to 12 gns. NEW CHURCH TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,

LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.
A temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.
The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

At Waterford yesterday nine labourers were sent for trial on a charge of having attacked farmers' carts and damaged goods which they were carrying.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The King has awarded the Albert Medal to several members of the ill-fated Shackleton Trans-Antarctic expedition of 1914-1917. Some of the awards are posthumous.

Lord Curzon had conversations on the Ruhr occupation with the French, Belgian and Italian Ambassadors yesterday.

There was very little extension of the dockers' strike in England yesterday. While some men in Manchester left their work, strikers in Liverpool returned to their employment. There is no change in the seamen's strike in Dublin.

ABROAD.

M. Poincaré replied to the Pope's letter in the French Chamber last night.

An Auckland-Wellington (New Zealand) train was derailed yesterday by a landslide. Fifteen people were killed and thirty-eight injured.

Efforts are being made by the Allies to speed up a settlement of the Near East difficulties. Hitherto the Governments have been giving more attention to the Ruhr problem.

In what is described as a "calm and friendly atmosphere," the League of Nations inquiry into the Saar administration opened at Geneva yesterday.

The Ruhr's Reactions.

The conversations which have been in progress during the week between the Marquis Curzon and the Comte de Saint-Aulaire do not seem to have been very successful. The French Ambassador's verbal communications have not been supplemented by a written answer to Mr. Baldwin's questionnaire; and M. Poincaré's attitude remains uncertain. This delay is causing much impatience in Great Britain, where even the best friends of France are being forced to the conclusion that she is determined to ignore the British point of view and to pursue her own course in the Ruhr Valley in despite of Mr. Baldwin and, indeed, of the whole world. While M. de Saint-Aulaire has been negotiating with Lord Curzon the coercive measures in the Ruhr have been intensified, and the screw has been tightened at every possible point. It is now an indictable offence to ride a bicycle in certain Rhineland towns, while throughout the Belgian area an eight o'clock curfew has been imposed. The town of Duisburg has been fined 30,000,000,000 marks, which, even at the present abnormal rate of exchange, is a fantastic sum, and the severity of the military occupation is being increased in every direction. Transport virtually has collapsed, with the result that the Ruhr Valley is getting only fifty per cent. of its necessary food supplies, and the chances of a nasty outburst among the people are increasing every day.

M. Poincaré certainly is succeeding in one of his objects. Germany's industrial and financial prosperity is a thing of the past. Her export trade is at a stand-still; she cannot buy goods in foreign markets, and prices have left wages so far behind that millions of workers are on the border line of starvation. Not only Germany, but the whole of Europe, is affected by this impossible situation. The French newspapers announce gaily that Germany's ruin is merely financial and has nothing to do with economics; but every British business man knows that the stagnation of industry in the Ruhr Valley and throughout the unoccupied part of Germany is reacting adversely on the commerce of the whole world. The loss of the German markets has had a very serious effect on British trade. If M. Poincaré has his way, the purchasing power of the Reich will disappear altogether. The political aspect of the Ruhr problem has almost ceased to matter. The economic effects of the French policy are proving to be so calamitous that the future ownership of the rive gauche and its kindred topics are of little more than academic importance. Europe is confronted with the danger of an economic collapse which nothing but consummate statesmanship can hope to avert. In the light of that fact everything else is insignificant.

The general uncertainty in financial and economic affairs is reflected in the action of the Bank of England, which raised its bank rate on Thursday from three to four per cent. The last change in the rate was made almost exactly one year ago, when it was reduced to three per cent. During recent weeks borrowing rates have been cheaper in London than in New York, and American business men have been taking advantage of this fact to raise money in England. These transactions, coupled with recent British investments in America, have affected the value of sterling in New York, and the exchange rates have fallen appreciably. The Bank of England, therefore, has decided to safeguard its reserves by the adoption of a higher rate. Nevertheless, there is no doubt that the Ruhr trouble has had some influence on its decision. If Germany should collapse suddenly, British credit would be virtually the only bulwark of civilisation in Europe. The franc would fall immediately, and its fate would be shared by the lira. Only the most careful forethought could save sterling from the general débâcle, and the rise in the Bank of England rate is a step in the right direction. The whole fabric of French finance is knit closely together with that of Germany. If one be destroyed, the other inevitably must be involved in its ruin, and it is essential that at least one European nation shall be in a position to stand fast amid the welter that would follow such a crash.

Sir John Moore.

At Shorncliffe Camp, on Thursday, the Duke of Connaught unveiled a statue of Sir John Moore, the hero of Corunna. Not many people, we think, will appreciate the great significance of the site. Sir John Moore is one of the spectacular figures of military history. His retreat to Corunna stood on record, until Lord French's retreat from Mons, as the only successful retreat, on a large scale, that ever had been conducted by a British general. He died in the hour of victory, after an achievement which made the Peninsular War possible and, in Soult's words, prevented Napoleon from "planting his victorious eagles on the ramparts of Lisbon." He inspired two magnificent pieces of literature—Charles Wolfe's Ode and Napier's account of the retreat to Corunna. These things were more than enough for fame, and it is on these things that the whole of Moore's fame rests in the public mind. In the mind of the professional soldier, however, he has a title to immortality that is even more secure. His most abiding work was done not in Spain, but at Shorncliffe. After the American War the British Army had fallen to a low state of efficiency and discipline. Its conditions were still those on which so many vivid side-lights are thrown in the novels of Fielding, Smollett and Sterne. Officers got their commissions by bringing, through family influence or purchase, a certain number of recruits to the Colours. They were often entirely ignorant of their duties and neither felt nor were expected to feel any sense of responsibility for their men's health and comfort. Such discipline as existed was maintained by a stern system of punishment and threats. From his young days Moore—though a brilliant, handsome lad, with all the world of pleasure at his feet—was ascetic in his personal habits and an ardent reformer; and he made his first regiment, the old Fifty-first, a model for the whole Army. His great chance came in 1803 when—as, once more in 1914—England was trying in desperate haste to create armies for a foreign field. Moore, already a distinguished general, formed the training camp at Shorncliffe and introduced a new kind of discipline. He compelled every officer to know his business and to study the wants of his men. He formed new links between officers and men—the same links which stood the test of the late war—and he developed new methods of training and tactics. The results were the famous Light Brigade, which became afterwards the Light Division under Wellington, and the creation of the "thin red line" that won Waterloo. Officers from the Light Division rose quickly to high commands throughout the Army, and soon the little leaven from Shorncliffe had leavened the whole lump. Moore's ideal was a new spirit that would "replace a mechanical instrument with a living organism," and it is hardly too much to say that his work as a reformer was the ultimate cause of his country's later victories at Ypres and the Hindenburg Line. Modern statues rise so seldom to the level of a lofty theme that M. Rodin's tribute to Mr. Tweed's work at Shorncliffe will be welcomed with pleasure and relief.

"Broadcasting."

The benefit to the human race of the system of "broadcasting" aural entertainment is a matter upon which opinions may differ. There can be no two opinions, however, as to the value of wireless telephony generally. Not so long ago a mother in Scotland was enabled to reach the bedside of a dying son in London by the aid of a "broadcasted" message. Within the last few days a man holiday-making on the Thames in a launch fitted with "listening-in" apparatus was summoned in like fashion to a hospital to which his daughter had been taken. In countless other ways, besides that of keeping people amused in the evening, wireless telephony is justifying its existence. The question why the sale of "listening-in" instruments and the material necessary for their construction is still prohibited in the Free State must now be asked. It was the general belief that the ban on wireless telephony arose, in the first instance, from the fear that the Republican forces might be able to avail themselves of it. That reason no longer exists, but the ban remains. Possibly it is the intention of the Postmaster-General to make the sale of such instruments, as well as the granting of licences, a source of much-needed revenue to the Free State. If that is the case, the sooner he lets us into his secret the better. There can be no objection to the raising of revenue from the use of wireless telephony. Furthermore, if it can be shown that the safety of the State still is in issue, no objection can be taken to control and supervision pro tanto by the military authorities. The public, however, has a right to complain if the Free State is to be left sitting, without explanation, in outer and unprogressive darkness while the rest of the world whizzes by on the ringing grooves of change.

A Tale of the Sea.

The horse and the dog have been sung in many an epic. Reynard the fox has had his couplet-weaving chroniclers, and in the "Jungle Books" and the stories of Thompson Seton and C. G. D. Roberts the kindred of the wild—bear and bobcat, seal and snake, elephant and jackrabbit—have been celebrated in prose. The patient ox never has stirred the poet's imagination or the romancer's pen. Now, however, that story has been written—not in the pages of current literature, but in the prosaic medium of a trading company's annual report. The story of the heifers of the ss. Mossamedes surely will live for many years. The Mossamedes was plying between Cape Town and East African ports, and had on board six pedigree heifers, consigned to the Angola Estates Company. The ship struck some rocks in a fog and was abandoned, and the heifers were left on board. Twenty-six days later the derelict hulk of the Mossamedes was boarded from a small coasting steamer, and there were the heifers, still very much alive. They had chewed patiently through their halter ropes and, making their way below in search of nutriment, had browsed on the grass mattresses with which the cabins were provided. So lively were these heroic ruminants when discovered that two of them had to be destroyed in order that the other four might be rescued. These are now feeding at ease and in the best of health on the Angola Estates Company's pastures. We in Ireland, at any rate, cannot fail to appreciate this brave example of courage and sagacity in an animal that it is so greatly our business to honour.

The Prince of Wales arrived in London last night at 10 o'clock, on his return from his Northern tour. He travelled by ordinary train.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

Yesterday evening the King returned from Newmarket to London, and next Monday will, with the Queen, leave for Edinburgh, where the Court will be in residence at Holyrood Palace for a week. Their Majesties will hold a reception on Tuesday at the Palace, and on Wednesday there will be a garden party, at which a very large attendance is expected.

Last evening the Crown Prince of Sweden, accompanied by his two sons, left London for Sweden, travelling via the Hook of Holland. They will make no stay in Stockholm, but will go straight to the Prince's summer residence at Soffero, where his daughter and his younger sons have been residing for the past month.

Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles returned to Chesterfield House yesterday from Newmarket. The Duke of Argyll, who has been cruising on a friend's yacht, has returned to London. The Marquis and Marchioness of Worcester, who spent their honeymoon at Lowther Castle, have arrived at Badminton on a visit to the Marquis's parents, the Duke and Duchess of Beaufort. The Marquis and Marchioness of Hartington have arrived at their London residence from Alnwick Castle. The Countess of Ilchester has returned to Holland House from Newmarket.

Lady Juliet Trevor and Lady Cayzer were among the London dance hostesses last night, and on the preceding evening Field-Marshal Lord Grenfell gave a ball for his only daughter, the Hon. Madelina Grenfell. Many friends gave dinner parties for the ball, which took place at 1 Carlton Gardens, lent for the occasion by Lady Hudson.

Lord Pentland, son of the late Captain George Sinclair, celebrates his sixty-third birthday to-day. He has held various Government appointments, including that of Secretary for Scotland, while representing Forfarshire. He was made a Baron in 1909, and three years later was appointed Governor of Madras, retiring in 1919. His marriage with Lady Marjorie Gordon, only daughter of the Marquis of Aberdeen and Temair, took place in 1904, and they have one son and one daughter. The former, the heir to the Barony, was sixteen last month.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

M.P.'s BUSY AFTERNOON

MANY SMALL BILLS

FROM OUR PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT.

WESTMINSTER, Friday.

The House of Commons spent a busy and profitable afternoon by advancing a number of small bills, all of a strictly non-controversial character. There were few talkers, and progress was rapid.

The first bill dealt with was a small measure to provide that the cost of the education of children boarded out should be met by the authorities of the locality with which they had a settlement. The measure was read a second time, the only criticism being that it might tend to discourage Boards of Guardians sending children into the country.

There was a little more debate on the East India Loans Bill, which gives Parliamentary consent for borrowing money in the United Kingdom on behalf of the Government of India. The money, Earl Winterton explained, was required for the development of Indian railways, and for other works of a public character. Mr. Wise urged the advisability of caution with regard to the amount of these loans to India, so as to avoid too great a strain on India's resources. Opinion generally was favourable to the bill, which was given a second reading.

On the Public Works Loans Bill, which is one of the hardy annuals, Mr. Cantley expressed the view that the smaller local authorities were not getting their money as cheaply as they ought to do, a point also emphasised by Mr. Wallhead, who suggested that the Post Office deposits might with advantage be utilised in the form of loans at a lower rate of interest than could be obtained in the open market. The bill also went through without a division, as did the Town Councils (Scotland) Bill, a measure which embodies proposals agreed upon at the conference between the representatives of the great cities, and designed to effect improvements in the machinery of municipal elections.

The Isle of Man (Customs) Bill was a purely formal matter, and then came the Railways (Authorisation of Works) Bill, the short purpose of which is to enable the railway companies to undertake works up to a limit of half-a-million for any one scheme, without the necessity of promoting a private bill in Parliament. This proposal, said Colonel Ashley, would permit of the companies more readily undertaking constructional work for the relief of the unemployed.

Mr. Hardie was somewhat suspicious of railway companies when they were posing as friends of the unemployed, but Colonel Ashley assured the hon. member that there was no deep-laid plot underlying the bill. This was the one bill of the afternoon which provoked a division, but the second reading was carried by 156 to 73, and the House then rose, well satisfied with its day's work.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference—Under the influence of a large Continental anti-cyclone, winds will be, for the most part, south-easterly, and the weather will be mainly fine, with high temperature generally inland; but there is a risk of local thunderstorm.

Ireland—Wind mainly south-easterly, light or moderate; generally fine, but thunderstorms not improbable in places; misty at times; warm.

All Seaboards—Wind mainly easterly to south-easterly, light or moderate; generally fair, but local thunderstorms not improbable; some mist; sea slight.

IRISH BOOKS AT THE VATICAN.

PAPAL THANKS TO TRINITY COLLEGE.

The following is a copy of a letter which was addressed recently to the Marquis McSwiney by His Eminence, Cardinal Gasparri:—

"Secretariate of State of His Holiness,
"The Vatican.

"ILLUSTRIOUS SIR,—It was with real pleasure that last year, on the eve of St. Patrick's Day, the Holy Father, availing himself of the opportunity offered by the splendid manifestation in honour of the Holy See, in which the most eminent scholars of Ireland were associated, gave that ancient and noble nation a first testimony of his special regard and paternal solicitude by amplifying in the world-famed Apostolic Library the special section destined to contain the best fruits of the intellect and studies of Irishmen.

"This act of pontifical magnanimity did not fail to be rightly interpreted and duly appreciated in Ireland.

"From that day the Irish Section has gone on increasing in a manner which shows that Irishmen are determined to make their national section one of the most important amongst those existing in the Leonine Reference Library. In fact, scientific bodies, authors and publishers have become accustomed to make homage to the Pope of their publications as these issue from the [illegible]. But this is not all; old editions of works mostly out of print, but yet indispensable for the study of the literature, history, and archæology of Ireland are being carefully collected. These were the observations which the Holy Father made with particular satisfaction while examining the books presented to him by you, illustrious sir, on the 18th of December last, and more recently on the 4th of the present month of May. He remembered also the delicacy shown by the promoter of the section, who, by providing himself for the binding of all such works as had come unbound, spared the funds of the Library all extra expense.

"In consideration of all this, and of the effect which the noble example of Ireland has produced on the minds of other peoples, who now vie with one another in enriching their own national section, the Holy Father wishes that his thanks be conveyed in general to all those who have taken part in the work. He thanks especially the Right Hon. the Most Reverend the Provost and the Senior Fellows of Trinity College, Dublin, for their gift of a complete set of "Hermathena," the important periodical which does credit to that University. He also thanks the President and Council of the Irish Texts Society and of the Bibliographical Society of Ireland for the gifts of the valuable works published under their auspices. He is also pleased to thank the directors of the Educational Company of Ireland, and their diligent secretary, Mr. P. O'Daly, as also those of that other excellent firm, the Sellifont Press, Ltd., for their most recent publications. To the following authors, who have presented copies of their works, or of those of their relatives, the Holy Father wishes to convey the expression of his feelings of sincere gratitude:—

"Miss M. E. Dobbs, Mrs. Dunlop, the mother of the late lamented S. H. G. Fitzgerald, G. Fletcher, M.R.I.A.; [illegible] M. Flood, E. J. Gwynn, M.R.I.A.; Professor Miss M. Hayden, Miss E. Hull, J. Loth, Member of the Institute of France; S. T. McCarthy, F.R.I.A.; Rev. L. McKenna, S.J.; S. MacManus, M. A. Macnamara, His Excellency, E. MacNeill, Minister for Education of the Irish Free State; C. MacNeill, Rev. P. M. MacSweeney, G. Moore, Colonel M. Moore, Senator; H. Goddard Orpen, M.R.I.A.; and F. H. Skrine.

"Also to Messrs. G. Berkeley, M.J. MacEnery, M.R.I.A., President of the Royal Society of Antiquaries of Ireland; C. O'Neill, D.L.; and the Rev. Innocent Ryan, Dean of the Metropolitan Chapter of Cashel. His Holiness wishes that his feelings of particular appreciation be expressed for the generosity with which they were the first to respond to your noble appeal for works now rare or out of print, which are needed to complete the retrospective part of the Irish National Section.

"Finally, the Holy Father, while congratulating you again, illustrious sir, for the splendid result obtained by you in such a short time, encourages you to continue your noble efforts, and, as a token of his paternal benevolence, grants you with all his heart the Apostolic Blessing.

"I, too, in conveying to you this very gratifying message, gladly avail myself of the opportunity to express my very sincere esteem for you, illustrious sir.

"Yours, very sincerely,
"P. CARDINAL GASPARRI.

"The Most Illustrious the Marquis MacSwiney of Mashanaglass, M.R.I.A."

FAMINE MEMORIES.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND SOCIETY OF FRIENDS.

An address of welcome was presented yesterday to Mr. T. M. Healy, Governor-General of the Irish Free State, by the Religious Society of Friends.

The members of the deputation were:—Mr. Thomas W. Bewley (Dublin), clerk to the yearly meeting; Miss Henrietta Bulla (Belfast), Mr. Edwin S. Jacob (Waterford), Assistant Clerks of the yearly meeting.

The following is the text of the address:—

"To His Excellency, Timothy Michael Healy, K.C., Governor-General of the Irish Free State.

"We, the members of the Religious Society of Friends in Ireland, assembled at our yearly meeting in the City of Belfast, desire to convey to Your Excellency the expression of our respectful congratulations on your appointment by His Majesty the King as his first Governor-General of the Irish Free State.

"Our Religious Body has for nearly three centuries been closely identified with the promotion of the principles of peace and good-will. While we recognise that since you accepted your high office the Government has had most difficult problems thrust upon it, it is our earnest hope and prayer that in God's providence you may soon have the happiness of experiencing their solution, and of being closely identified with the inauguration of an era of long-continued peace and advancing prosperity, so urgently needed by our beloved country, and earnestly desired by all sections of the people.

"Signed on behalf of the Religious Society of Friends in Ireland.—Thomas W. Bewley (Clerk.)"

The Governor-General replied as follows:—

"Friends, I beg you will convey to the members of the Religious Society of Friends in Ireland my gratitude for their address, which is the more welcome because it was framed in the City of Belfast at your yearly meeting.

"Your Religious Society has been identified in the three centuries which it reckons with the propagation of the principles of peace and good-will. Your address justly makes this claim, and its public charities also commend it to the Irish nation. The memory of the famine still lingers in many minds, softened by the recollection that 'the people called Quakers were foremost in the alleviation of the woes of our hunger-stricken population.'

"I take satisfaction in the fact that many of your body have been, and are, connected with thriving Irish industries. To the members of your communion belongs the credit here, and in England, of the earlier railway systems.

"The Irish public recognises that neither the Society of Friends as a body, nor its individual members, ever joined in any movement antagonistic to their traditions. Wherefore I re-echo your kindly prayer to God's providence for the welfare of our native land, and trust that your members may share to the full the benefits of that coming era of prosperity which their virtues and example tend to advance."

READY-MADE CLOTHES.

A GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

Mr. Walter Carpenter, Secretary of the Irish Garment-Makers' Industrial Union, has addressed a letter to the Secretary of the Clothing Contract Department of the Local Government regarding a large order for ready-made suits, which he says it is rumoured is about to be placed in England. In asking that the order may be given to Irish employers, Mr. Carpenter desires to know the difference in price, if any, of English and Irish ready-mades, the specification of the order to be placed; if the English firms are asked to quote for certain weights and for Irish "lots"; if there is any fair wages clause applied to the English contractors, and, if so, how can it be enforced.

LONDON LETTER.

THE LADIES' TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

"Suzanne" has triumphed again and won the Ladies' Singles at Wimbledon for the fifth time. Not only so, but her victory over Miss McKane is the severest save one that she has ever inflicted on that lady in their six encounters. On the other hand, Miss McKane can claim that she did not have a love set scored against her, and no other finalist since 1919, when Mlle. Lenglen first carried off the championship, can say that. In 1920 the French wonder beat Mrs. Chambers 6-3, 6-0; in 1921 Miss Ryan 6-2, 6-0; in 1922 Mrs. Mallory 6-2, 6-0.

The Ruhr.

The French Ambassador paid another long visit to Lord Curzon this afternoon, but it is unknown whether there has been any further development with regard to the Ruhr situation. In diplomatic circles it is expected that a written document embodying the text of the various conversations which M. de St. Aulaire has had with the Foreign Office will be ready by the week-end, and that it will be presented to Lord Curzon as a reply to the Prime Minister's questions. Really it will be in the form of a supplementary to the conversations, and not in place of them. This will mean further delay.

The Dock Strike.

There was no sign of a diminution in the number of dock strikers to-day, and it was rumoured that more men were coming out during the week-end. The good advice given by the dockers' official leaders at present is being disregarded, but it may have some effect on the more sober-minded men, who will find the week-end without pay or allowance a very uncomfortable experience. Mr. Bevin, known as the dockers' K.C., and one of the most respected of the Labour leaders, points out that engagements must be honoured, or the Transport Workers' Union will be crippled in the task which it has set itself to carry out.

Losing Ground.

As a matter of fact, the dockers' unions have lost ground. The agitator, so long unheeded, is now in the ascendent. Scores of meetings are now being held, and the capitalistic system is the one object of attack. The wildest things are being said, and it need surprise nobody if the wildest actions follow. The present heat wave helps to breed discontent, and, with violence preached as well, the situation is not at all hopeful. The only hope of a speedy solution to a serious position is that the moderate men will take control of the situation.

A Royal Dinner Party.

The dinner party to be given by the Prince of Wales in his own home at St. James's Palace, next Tuesday, will be a most interesting function. That he should think of inviting all his hosts of the past few months to dine with him is a very happy thought, and one that will be warmly appreciated by those invited. Every one of them must have taken a great deal of personal trouble to see that the Prince was comfortable, and they, in turn, will be made welcome by the Prince. The dinner party is to be followed by a reception, and to this will be invited many of the friends of the Prince from whom at one time or another he has accepted hospitality.

"The Royal."

The Royal Agricultural Society's Show at Newcastle was a tremendous success from every point of view. The attendance was very large for such a gathering, and on Wednesday no fewer than thirty-nine thousand people passed through the turnstiles. In fact, the crowd was so great that it was almost impossible to see the exhibits, and to get near a champion beast or a new agricultural implement meant quite a considerable wait. Ireland was poorly represented this year, owing, no doubt, to the late prevailing unrest; but it was interesting to note that the only two Irish beasts shown secured championships—a remarkable event when it is considered that "The Royal" is the premier agricultural show of the world.

Fruit and Vegetables.

Meat is dearer as a result of the dock strike, which has delayed the landing of several cargoes; but fruit and vegetables are in abundant supply. Australian apples have been landed with little interference, and cherries, currants, carrots and turnips from France; gooseberries, cucumbers and cauliflowers from Holland; oranges, greengages and onions from Spain; and tomatoes and potatoes from the Channel Islands have also been discharged from the cargoes in the London docks.

Irish Records.

Sir Wilfrid Sugden, unable to secure a promise from the Colonial Office that the Irish State papers would be placed in the Record Office here, will ask Mr. Ormsby-Gore on Monday if he will present copies of such documents as are desired by the Irish Government to them, and thereafter require all documents and records at present in Ireland essential for the British people in respect to historical, industrial, legal and property right to be duly placed in the Public Records Office in London.

The Wood-Renton Commission.

Next Monday Colonel Newman will ask Mr. Ormsby-Gore whether he is aware that, with the consent of the British Government, the Wood-Renton Commission has imposed a re-building clause in the majority of the awards which it has hitherto made; that in the Land Purchase Bill which is now passing through the Dail the Free State Government is taking power to take over any land, and, since this power, if exercised, would render the re-building of his house by the owner of a demesne or untenanted land useless where the Free State Government intends to exercise its right of acquisition, will he use his endeavours to have the re-building clause struck out and the sum allowed for in the price at which the land in question is being acquired from the present owner.

Lieutenant E. H. Glendinning.

It is understood that the case of a young Irish officer, Lieutenant E. H. Glendining, 3rd Royal Irish Rifles, which was the object of much publicity and of questions in Parliament in 1920, is to be re-opened. The Officers' Association has now taken it up, and a claim has been lodged against the War Office for heavy damages. Should this step prove ineffective, several Peers have promised to take up the matter in the House of Lords. Mr. T. M. Healy, K.C., in connection with the case, gave as his legal opinion that not only was Lieutenant Glendining shockingly wronged, but falsely imprisoned throughout. The Lieutenant is a nephew of the late Dr. J. H. Glendining, of Rathgar, and a cousin of Mr. James Douglas, the Vice-Chairman of the Irish Free State Senate.

M. POINCARE REPLIES TO THE POPE.

"WE STAND BY THE TREATY OF VERSAILLES."

NO INTERVENTION WANTED.

LORD CURZON'S DISCUSSIONS WITH THREE AMBASSADORS.

The recent letter by the Pope on the subject of the Ruhr occupation was discussed in the French Chamber last night. The Radical Socialist Party demanded the withdrawal of the French Embassy at the Vatican as a protest against the Papal interference. To this M. Poincaré could not agree.

He detailed the conversations that the French Ambassador had had with the Papal authorities, and reiterated the French demands. "We stand by the Treaty of Versailles," he declared. He added that France did not intend to ask the Pope to intervene.

FRANCE AND THE VATICAN.

M. POINCARE ON THE POPE'S LETTER.

PARIS, Friday.

The Chamber to-day discussed the demand by the Radical Socialist Party for the withdrawal of the French Embassy accredited to the Vatican in consequence of the Pope's letter of June 26 on the subject of the occupation of the Ruhr.

M. Poincaré, replying, said that the French representative at the Vatican had been instructed to reply immediately upon the receipt of the document, that the occupation of the Ruhr had responded to the almost unanimous desire of France.

Cardinal Gasparri, commenting on the Pope's letter, said that it had been written in Christian charity, and in order to promote goodwill among men. In this case, the Cardinal added, Germany's capacity to pay, and eventually the evacuation of the occupied regions, must be examined.

M. Jonnart had again expressed his astonishment, and had asked for an audience of the Pontiff.

The Pope thereupon gave an assurance to M. Jonnart, saying that he had no desire to take part in the present conflict. He had been asked to do so by the Catholics of the world.

M. Jonnart then insisted upon the rights of France, and dwelt upon the untruthfulness of the German propaganda.

The thesis, supported by the Holy Father, was doubtless akin to that of certain of France's Allies. The thesis, continued M. Poincaré, was, perhaps, regrettable, but it was his duty to deal with it.

M. Heriot, Radical Socialist member for Lyons, here retorted that the Pope has no right to interfere.

M. Poincaré, disregarding the interruption, said that the Pope did not dispute the legality of the occupation of the Ruhr, but merely dealt with the burdens placed upon Germany by the occupation, and urged that they should be alleviated.

The Pope's letter, M. Poincaré added, had not been received very favourably in France, whilst in Germany it was regarded as an encouragement, but the request of the Papal Nuncio in Berlin for the cessation of criminal acts had not yet been complied with. The Holy See had seen fit to give political advice to France. Advice of that kind could not have any effect. (Loud cheers.)

The Abbé Lemire—It was Christian doctrine.

M. Poincaré—The Pope has no authority in temporal matters. The Pope's letter can have no political effect. It leaves French Catholics free to act according to their conscience. It would not be reasonable to withdraw the French Embassy from the Vatican because the Pope had expressed an opinion contrary to our own. We do not demand the withdrawal of our Embassies which are accredited to Powers that are asking us to agree to submit Germany's capacity to pay to a so-called impartial tribunal.

With regard to foreign policy, the French Government is firmly resolved not to consent to any whittling away of our lay policy or of our political independence. (Loud cheers.) Therefore, we have instructed M. Tonnart not to make any request to the Pope with regard to the execution of the Treaty of Versailles, and not to ask His Holiness to intervene in order to put an end to German resistance. There is no power in the world which can deprive us of our rights under the Treaty of Versailles. To-day France appears to certain countries, which have had no part of their territory devastated, and which have not spent or advanced one hundred milliards on account of Germany, to be interfering with financiers, who are anxious to form consortiums.

France stands by the Treaty of Versailles. As to Germany's capacity to pay, we only entered the Ruhr after recording the defaults of Germany.

As for the idea of annexations or permanent occupation, it is not ours. We only wish to exercise an effective pressure upon Germany. With regard to the occupation of the Ruhr, it is for Germany to cut it short. The sooner Germany pays the sooner we shall withdraw. I do not despair of seeing these truths realised by our Allies, as clearly as by ourselves. We shall make every effort to render them triumphant.

Finally the Chamber decided, by 388 votes 190, to proceed with the agenda as demanded by M. Poincaré, thus ending the debate.—(Reuter.)

LONDON CONVERSATIONS

LORD CURZON'S VISITORS AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
LONDON, Friday.

There was no official news of any change in the international situation to-day. The Italian, Belgian and French Ambassadors all have visited Lord Curzon at the Foreign Office during the afternoon, but the strictest secrecy is still observed concerning these interviews.

Some surprise was felt at the early reappearance of the French Ambassador. If he had with him the written answer, about which there is so much conjecture, it is thought that it can have been nothing more than the notes corresponding with the previous discussions, and will not have contributed much to the solution of the difficulty.

There is a certain tendency in the French Press to shift the accusation of indefiniteness on to the British Government. "Tell us," they say, "what you are actually going to demand in the way of reparations." The answer is to be found in the January offer, which was immediately rejected by M. Poincaré.

Mr. Baldwin's statement in the House of Commons on Wednesday night, that the offer which was made in January, and which was not accepted, has left our hands perfectly free to deal with these matters as we may deem best, though significant, should not be taken to imply that our offer is now absolutely withdrawn.

It is, however, clear that subsequent events may have, in any case, necessitated some modification of its details.

The Italian Ambassador's conversation with Lord Curzon was prolonged and extremely cordial. Italy is extremely anxious to cooperate with England in every possible way—not that she feels any tendencies towards Germany; on the contrary, she desires to make Germany pay to the utmost of her ability. But Italy realises that the present situation is fatal to the cause of European reconstruction, which is the common cause of the world.

This does not imply any hostility towards France, but it is no secret that, in so far as there are divergencies, Italy is much more inclined to the British view than to the French.

BELGIUM'S POLICY.

"CANNOT FOLLOW FRANCE INDEFINITELY."

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BRUSSELS, Friday.

An article which has appeared in the Libre Belgique, criticising Belgium's policy in the Ruhr, and openly declaring that Belgium could not follow France indefinitely at the risk of finding herself ostracised by the rest of Europe, has created a sensation in political circles here.

In some quarters it has been suggested that M. Jasper, the Foreign Secretary, inspired the article, but this is denied in official circles, where it is asserted that Belgium's policy remains unchanged.

"TWO MORE DAYS."

CRYPTIC MESSAGES FROM AEROPLANES.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
COLOGNE, Friday.

There has been some unrest in Essen. Since Thursday French aeroplanes have been dropping leaflets on the town. Yesterday these bore the cryptic phrase, "Another Three Days." To-day similar leaflets were dropped, but the wording had been altered to "Two More Days."

In Essen it is thought that the French object is to increase the feeling of uneasiness, which is now apparent among all classes of the population.

French troops are still in the occupation of Krupps coal dépôt at Wegeroth, and arrangements are being made to transport the 60,000 tons of coal in the dépôt.

The loss of this supply will seriously affect the working of Krupps' foundries, and a stoppage is almost inevitable.

A French soldier killed one man, and seriously injured another at Essen last night, during an attempt to cut telegraph wires.

STEAMER CAPSIZES.

CREW'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Lloyd's Penzance agent reports that the Newcastle steamer, River Tees, capsized and foundered fifteen miles south of the Wolf Rock yesterday morning. The captain and crew landed safely at Penzance.

The River Tees was on her way to Aberdeen loaded with pitwood from Newport. Part of the cargo was on deck, and she took a dangerous list when fifty miles off the Wolf. The deck cargo was jettisoned, but the steamer's position became hopeless, and the boats were ordered out.

No sooner had the crew taken to the boats than the vessel sank. One of the boats became so leaky that the men in it were transferred to the captain's boat. A motor fishing boat rescued the crew and brought them into Penzance.

TENEMENT HOUSE ON FIRE.

WOMEN JUMP FROM BALCONY.

EXCITING SCENES IN DUBLIN.

Nine families were trapped in a tenement house at 20 Meath street, Dublin, last night, and were rescued with difficulty.

The fire broke out in the drapery establishment of Michael Kearney and Co., on the ground floor, which was completely destroyed.

In order to escape from the flames two women jumped from the balcony on the second floor to the backyard, 20 feet below. One of them—Margaret Phibbs, aged 43—was injured seriously; while the other, Christina French, aged 19, fractured her ankle.

Firemen were assisted by a number of soldiers and civilians in rescuing the occupants of the house—mostly women and children—while the fire was raging. The rescuers had to pass through a curtain of flame in the ground floor passage; and when carrying a woman out of the building Fireman C. McDonagh, of the Thomas street section, was burned severely about both hands.

It was shortly after eight o'clock when a boy named John Murphy, of 147 James's street, saw smoke issuing from Mr. Kearney's drapery shop. He gave an alarm, and immediately a crowd gathered, and several soldiers and civilians ran towards the building.

Three men broke open the door which led from the shop to the hall, and immediately flames burst through, and, driving them back, blocked the entrance for a short time.

The entrapped women and children were screaming and shouting with fright when the Thomas street section of the Fire Brigade arrived. Some of them had tried to escape, but, finding the bottom passage well-nigh impassable, had turned back and gone out on to the balconies which are on each floor.

The drapery shop was well alight when the firemen set to work. While some members of the Brigade were battling with the flames, the others went to the rescue of the occupants, followed by some soldiers, including Sergeant C. Murphy and Private J. Kealy.

Attracted by a shout on the second floor, several spectators ran through flames and smoke into the backyard. They were just in time to break the fall of the girl French, who had jumped for safety.

Mrs. Phibbs then jumped. As she fell past the first floor her legs touched the balcony, and were injured.

The fire, the cause of which is unknown, was not extinguished until an hour after the arrival of a second section of the Fire Brigade from Tara street. The damage is covered by insurance.

FINANCES OF FREE STATE.

DEFICIT NEED CAUSE NO UNEASINESS.

PROBLEM OF LOANS.

The "Monthly Review," in which the staff of the London Joint City and Midland Bank, Ltd., discuss financial and trade problems, contains an interesting article on the finances of the Irish Free State.

Regarding the Budget estimate for the current year (revenue £26,096,000, expenditure £46,005,000, deficit £19,909,000) it points out that "the army and compensation claims are expected to account for one-half of the total estimated expenditure in respect of supply services. No provision has been made for supplementary estimates, nor for the unsettled liability in respect of the British National Debt. When the Budget was introduced it was hoped to avoid a deficiency of more than 20 millions, but it now transpires that compensation claims for property losses may prove greater than anticipated, while the land purchase scheme will add still further to the Government's commitments.

"The prospective revenue is lower this year than last owing to the loss which results from the establishment of the Free State as an independent and separate fiscal entity. The estimated receipts from excise duty, for example, at 8 millions are just one-half the amount collected last year owing to the fact that beer and other dutiable commodities exported to Great Britain will cease to pay excise duty in Southern Ireland, but will instead be liable to customs duty in Great Britain. On the other hand, customs revenue will bring in an appreciably larger figure.

"The total tax revenue for the year is estimated at 20¼ millions, against 23 millions last year, so that with 5¾ millions of non-tax revenue there will be a total income of 26 millions to set against an expenditure of at least 46 millions.

DEFICIT AND LOAN PROSPECTS.

"The anticipated deficit, roughly equal to a year's tax revenue, is no doubt serious, but it should not give rise to uneasiness or lack of confidence in the stability of Irish finance. It has been occasioned largely, almost entirely, by the activities of a section of the community in a troubled period, and if the Government continue to enjoy the support of the great bulk of the population the provision of the means necessary to meet compensation claims and maintain settled conditions may in itself have beneficial consequences.

"At the moment the question of an Irish loan is very much in the foreground. The markets, in which such an issue might be offered, are three: New York, London, and Dublin. The first may be ruled out, for the time being at any rate, as New York shows signs of satiation in the matter of foreign loans. It is true that since the war the number and amount of foreign issues placed in New York have been much larger than formerly, but quite recently the overtures of a first-class borrower met with scant response in that market for the all-sufficient reason that many issues still remain undigested. The American public are slow to appreciate the advantages of foreign investment, and, except by the many Irish sympathisers in the States, it seems improbable that an Irish loan would be easily assimilated.

"London, the alternative foreign centre, offers greater prospects of a successful absorption, more particularly if the loan should carry the endorsement of the British Government. Undoubtedly the financial prosperity of Southern Ireland is a matter of first importance to Great Britain, but it is a moot point whether Ireland should appeal to this country for financial assistance at this juncture. Seemingly her prestige and credit would be enhanced to a greater degree if her first public borrowing operation were successfully conducted in her own borders.

"An appeal to the British investor in any event will become necessary before the Free State Government is in a position to settle outstanding and prospective obligations, commonly assessed at between 40 and 50 millions, and can begin to function normally. But there can be little room for doubt that this country and the world at large will be greatly influenced by full local support to a purely Irish loan.

CHURCH ON FIRE.

ENNISKILLEN'S CHIME OF BELLS ENDANGERED.

An outbreak of fire at Enniskillen Parish Church yesterday morning was fortunately checked before it had time to develop into serious proportions. A number of beams in the building will have to be replaced as a result of the blaze.

Workmen have been for some time engaged in making alterations in the interior of the building to adapt it for its new purpose as Diocesan Cathedral, and it is believed the fire started in a heap of rubbish left by the workmen in the porch.

The chief anxiety of the parishioners is lest the valuable chime of bells, of which they are justifiably proud, may have been injuriously affected by the intense heat, as when the fire was at its height some of the bells were actually red-hot.

RECORD ART SALE.

£205,741 PAID FOR SIR J. B. ROBINSON'S COLLECTION.

£19,950 FOR A FRANZ HALS.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
LONDON, Friday.

One of the biggest picture sales ever held took place at Christie's auction rooms, London, yesterday afternoon, when the collection of old masters formed by Sir J. B. Robinson was put up for auction. The sensation of the afternoon was the sale of Franz Hal's portrait of "A Gentleman," which opened at a bid of £5,000, and was sold for £19,950. This picture was last sold in 1885, when the price was £1,000. The room was packed to the door with prospective purchasers and art and society folk, attracted by the novelty of such an auction.

Scores of people who arrived late were unable to obtain admission.

Mr. Lance Hanner, the auctioneer, said that the sale would be a long one. There were 116 lots, and he asked for speedy bidding. He was not disappointed, as eleven Gainsboroughs were disposed of in less than 25 minutes.

Gainsborough's "Mrs. Drummond" fetched £10,500, as against £7,035 at Lord Revelstoke's sale in 1893. Prices realised by other Gainsboroughs were:—"Mr. and Mrs. De Laney," £3,200; "Admiral Lord Thomas Graves," £1,500; "A Page," £7,500; "General Bligh," £3,100; "Miss Katherine Edgar," £1,050; "The Wood Gatherers," £1,260; "A Landscape in Suffolk," £682; "Sudbury," £787; "A Hilly Landscape," £630.

Sir T. Lawrence's "A Boy with a Dog" was knocked down at £4,305, and his portrait of "A Lady" at £8,925.

Sir J. Reynolds' portrait of "Mrs. Mathew" was sold for £8,400. In 1894, when the late Duchess of Montrose's collection was sold, this picture was knocked down for £4,629. In 1821 it made only £49.

Among other prices fetched were:—Beechey's "Frederica Charlotte Catherine, Duchess of York," £1,575; and Constable's "Embarkation of George IV.," £2,415.

Reynolds' "Miss Harriet Whitbread" went at £5,040; his "Charles Manners, fourth Duke of Rutland," for £1,365; and his "Clarissa Harlow" for £1,050.

Romney's "Mrs. Chitty Marshall" fetched £3,150, and Turner's "Falls of the Clyde" £2,500.

In the Spanish school, £1,100 was accepted for Murillo's "San Francisco de Paula," and £2,100 for Velasquez's "Two Princesses."

Fra Angelico's "Day of Judgment" was knocked down at £3,570; and Piero Di Cosimo's "Story of Jason" and "Jason and Medea" went together for £6,540. Ghirlandaio's "Nativity of St. John the Baptist" and "St. John the Baptist Preaching" went at £2,625.

In the Dutch and Flemish schools, Van Der Cappelle's "Sea Piece" was knocked down at £4,200. Four panels by Boucher realised £18,900.

The total amount realised at the sale was £205,741, a record for the house of Christie.

GALLANTRY IN THE ANTARCTIC.

SHACKLETON'S COMRADES' COURAGE RECOGNISED.

ALBERT MEDALS.

Last night's London Gazette contains the following:—The King has been pleased to award the Albert Medal in recognition of the gallant conduct of Mr. Ernest Edward Mills Joyce, ex-Petty Officer, R.N.; Mr. William Rayment Richards, Mr. Victor George Hayward, deceased, and Petty Officer Harry Ernest Wild, R.N., deceased, in saving, and endeavouring to save, life while serving as members of the Ross Sea party of the Shackleton Transantarctic Expedition of 1914-17.

The expedition had for its object the crossing of the Antarctic Continent from the Weddell Sea to the Ross Sea via the South Pole, a distance of about 1,700 miles. Sufficient supplies for the journey could not be carried, and it was, therefore, necessary to establish a chain of dépôts on the Ross Sea side as far southwards as possible.

With this end in view, the ship Aurora was sent to McMurdo Sound, at the southern extremity of the Ross Sea, and as it was intended that the vessel should winter there, a portion only of the stores and equipment was disembarked.

McMurdo Sound was reached in January, 1915, but during a blizzard in May the Aurora was blown out to sea, and was unable to return, and the nine members of the expedition who were on shore were left stranded.

They recognised that failure to establish the dépôts would undoubtedly result in the loss of the main body, and resolved, in spite of their grave shortage of equipment, to carry out the allotted programme.

For this purpose, a party under the command of Sub-Lieutenant A. L. Mackintosh, R.N.R., and consisting of the Reverend A. P. Spencer Smith, Messrs. Joyce, Richards, Hayward, and Wild, and three other members who assisted for a part of the outward journey, left Hut Point, Ross Island, on October 9. They took with them two sledges and four dogs, and 162 days elapsed before the surviving members of the party were back at Hut Point, the total distance covered being approximately 950 miles.

Mr. Spencer Smith had to be dragged on a sledge for forty-two days, mainly by hand labour, the distance covered being over 350 miles. When more than a hundred miles remained to be covered, the collapse of Lieutenant Mackintosh imposed an additional burden on the active members of the party, who were all suffering from scurvy and snow blindness, and were so enfeebled by their labours that at times they were unable to cover more than two or three miles in fifteen hours.

Mr. Spencer Smith died when only nineteen miles remained to be covered, but Lieutenant Mackintosh was brought in safely to the base.

TRAIN DERAILED IN NEW ZEALAND.

15 KILLED AND 38 INJURED.

WELLINGTON, Friday.

An express train from Auckland to Wellington ran off the rails near Taumarimui, with the result that fifteen persons were killed, and thirty-eight injured. There have been many landslides of the line recently, owing to heavy rains.

The accident happened to a down train, which was travelling at express speed. Three carriages were telescoped, and the engine was virtually buried in the débris. A sharp curve prevented the driver of the express from seeing an obstruction on the line.—(Reuter.)

RECENT WILLS.

Mr. Charles Cecil Beresford Whyte, J.P., D.L., of Hatley Manor, Carrick-on-Shannon, Co. Leitrim, who died at Newton Manor, Sligo, on March 25, aged 77 years, left unsettled personal estate in the United Kingdom valued at £3,434, of which £2,373 is in England. The testator left his property to his wife absolutely.

Mrs. Annie Crawford, of Orissa, 58 Marlborough Park, Belfast, who died as the result of injuries received in a motor car accident, daughter-in-law of the late Sir William Crawford, Chairman of the York Street Flax Spinning Co., Belfast, left unsettled personal property in England and Northern Ireland valued at £732.

The King of the Belgians has signed a Royal Decree making Kinshasa the capital of the Congo, in the place of Boma, and changing the name of the former city to Leopoldville.

SUMMER AT LAST.

HEAT WAVE IN ENGLAND.

90° IN THE SHADE.

DUBLIN 12° COOLER THAN LONDON.

July came into its own yesterday all over the British Isles. The anti-cyclone which meteorologists have assured us for some time has been manœuvring round the coasts in hitherto vain endeavours to supplant successive chilly cyclones won the day.

A misty dawn gave place to a deep blue sky, from which a brilliant sun shone throughout the day. In parts of England the shade temperature rose to 90, and many stations reported over twelve hours' sunshine.

In Dublin at one o'clock yesterday afternoon the shade temperature was 76. In the city streets it was sweltering, but in the suburbs and coast townships the heat was made bearable by a light North-easterly breeze.

To-day's official forecast is that the seasonable conditions will continue, but that there may be local thunderstorms. At three o'clock this morning it was oppressively warm in the city, and from time to time a few heavy drops fell from a stationary bank of clouds.

88 IN THE SHADE.

CURIOUS HEAT WAVE INCIDENTS.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
LONDON, Friday.

The sudden wave of midsummer heat has spread all over the country, and there are no immediate signs of a breakdown. The large Continental anti-cyclone, says the Air Ministry, will maintain fine warm weather over the British Isles for a day or so.

The heat to-day was a record for this curious summer. In some districts, including London, the thermometer in the hottest part of the day soared to 88 deg. in the shade. Three days ago the mercury was struggling to get beyond the 60 mark.

Skegness had nearly 12 hours sunshine, Ilkley 11½ hours, and Harrogate, Blackpool, Southport, Douglas, and Buxton all had 11 hours sunshine.

There was no rain. The highest temperature was that of Southport with 86 deg., Blackpool coming next with 85 deg., and Morecambe with 84 deg. Other towns had not so much, and Scarborough was at the end of the list with only 65 deg.

PILOTS TAKE OFF THEIR COATS.

The air to-day was what is called "baking hot," and the heat extended upwards through the atmosphere to a height of several thousand feet. It was so hot at 5,000 feet up that the pilots on the Manchester to London aeroplanes had to take off their coats, and they were flying through the air at 100 miles an hour.

COUNCIL MEETING ON THE BEACH.

There was a novel scene at Barmouth, for it was found to be too hot to hold the usual meeting of the Urban District Council indoors, the members decided to hold the meeting out of doors, and chose the foreshore, where a large crowd of wondering visitors gathered round to watch the councillors transact their business.

It was the hottest day in Cheshire for years, and the farmers were beginning to grumble that the root crops are being ruined for lack of water, and the strawberries are disappearing in the intense heat. It was so hot that the haymakers had to down forks and sit in the shade.

The heat is reported to have been particularly oppressive on the Yorkshire wolds, where the farmers are getting in the harvest of meadow and clover hay.

HAY TAKES FLIGHT.

Haymakers at Burton-on-Trent were astonished to see a couple of big haycocks become suddenly uprooted and whirled into the air in a spiral fashion. The phenomenon was due to a sudden whirlwind which broke on the dead calm. It was curiously local, being practically limited to the hay field. Hay was whipped into the air to a height of 100 feet. It descended on some tennis players half a mile away.

The great heat is keenly felt among the workers in the furnaces and tinplate works in South Wales. The output at Swansea yesterday was perceptibly affected.

The Prince of Wales, who travelled again from Alnwick to the Royal Show at Newcastle, had a trying journey in the broiling sun, stopping here and there at the towns and villages.

SEVERAL DEATHS.

Several deaths from the heat are reported. At Luton, Rose Edith Cook, wife of a tram conductor, collapsed from the heat as she got off a car with her child. She died almost at once.

Overcome by the heat, George Knight fell from a hay waggon and died near Bordon, Hants, and at the inquiry to-day a verdict of "death from heart failure due to the heat" was returned.

In order to get cool the people of Glasgow crowded into the public parks and took their food with them. It was 81 degrees in the shade.

90 DEGREES!

The Press Association says that the highest temperature recorded was 90 degrees in the shade at Raunds, Andover, and South Farnborough.

90 DEGREES IN PARIS.

WARM WEATHER FASHIONS ON THE BOULEVARDS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Friday.

Ninety degrees—and the French weather experts promise that it will be hotter to-morrow!

It is explained that the heat wave does not come from America, but from the coast of Africa.

Boulevard fashions for the heat are simple and charming. Sleeves have disappeared. Hats are large and wide-brimmed. The flowing cloak in the same material as the dress, and generally in the same colour, is popular. Thousands of Parisiennes are making their plans to escape to the sea. Meanwhile thousands of Americans continue to pour into Paris every day.

IRISH REPUBLICAN ENVOYS IN AUSTRALIA.

SYDNEY, Friday.

The Irish Republican envoys, Mr. O'Kelly and Father O'Flanagan, who are in custody pending deportation, have refused to accept their release on the condition that they sign a guarantee for a hundred pounds not to address public meetings, and to leave the Commonwealth by July 26. It is reported that the United States Government has refused to accept the Irishmen as deportees.—(Reuter.)

LATE MR. CATHAL BRUGHA.

A Mass for the repose of the soul of Mr. Cathal Brugha will be offered in Whitefriar street Church, Dublin, to-morrow, at 11. After the Service there will be a procession to the grave in Glasnevin Cemetery.

Two more of the passengers injured in the railway accident near Drammen, Sweden, on Thursday, have died, says a Christiania telegram.

A Malta telegram says that the Minister of Public Instruction has resigned, owing, it is understood, to differences with his colleagues in regard to the Language Bill.

MLLE. LENGLEN WINS.

TOO GOOD FOR ENGLISH OPPONENT.

TO-DAY'S FINAL.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
LONDON, Friday.

The games to-day at Wimbledon provided plenty of interest for the huge crowds.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the incomparable French player, had a splendid reception when she went into court to defend her title against her challenger, Miss K. McKane, who failed to produce her best form against her indomitable rival, who had beaten her soundly on each occasion of their previous meetings.

Whether her best tennis would have been of any avail is just conjecture, but the fact remains that the French woman won, as usual, conclusively and decisively in two straight sets, in which the English woman won but four games all told. Miss McKane may have been over-impressed by the importance of the occasion. She was, to put it in a word, disappointing. She was continually hitting out, and made many mistakes. It was almost from the outset Suzanne's match. There was never any doubt of it after the first set, and she was most cordially congratulated on her triumph in winning the championship for the fifth year in succession.

In the men's doubles semi-final, our Davis Cup pair, R. Lycett and L. A. Godfree, proved too good for L. S. Deane and A. H. Fyzee, winning at 8-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Some of the rallies were very good.

One of the most pleasing features of the meeting has been the success which has attended Miss E. Colyer and Miss Austin in the women's doubles. Here are two young English girls who believe in attack and the taking of risks, and their success has fully justified their style of play.

In the semi-final they beat Mrs. Youle and Miss Rose 8-6, 6-4, and the game produced some delightful lawn tennis. Mrs. Youle, who is a daughter of F. R. Spofforth, the famous Australian bowler, played very well with her partner, but they could not cope with the fleetness of foot shown by their young rivals.

In the other semi-final Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Ryan beat Mrs. Lambert Chambers and Miss McKane, 6-1, 6-2, Mlle. Lenglen being the dominating figure of the match.

The mixed doubles semi-final between L. S. Deane, paired with Mrs. Shepheard Barron and Vincent Richards and Mrs. Mallory, resulted in a surprise, the Americans being beaten at 5-3, 6-3, 6-4. It was a fine victory for the English, and much to the liking of the crowd.

The final in the men's singles to-morrow will be an all-American affair. I think we shall see some spectacular lawn tennis, for F. T. Hunter will not go down without a great struggle, but I cannot see him beating Johnston, who has far more strokes than his fellow-countryman. Both men are fierce drivers, but Johnston is the more accomplished volleyer, and he is also more deadly in his all-court game.

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

THE RUHR DEADLOCK.

EXPLANATIONS BY FRANCE.

"THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY SAYS:—

Conversations on the reparations question were resumed yesterday evening between Lord Curzon and the French and Belgian Ambassadors. They were preceded by a long and cordial interview between the Foreign Secretary and the Italian Ambassador, who again visited the Foreign Office for the purpose of a full exchange of views on the same question. Briefly, Italy has not departed from her attitude as explained in the London Memorandum—namely, the coupling of the problem of reparations with that of inter-Allied debts, a sufficient moratorium for Germany, the establishment of a definite and reasonable plan of payments, reliable guarantees of a purely economic nature, and a subsequent renunciation by France of the territories occupied in the Ruhr. On the question of passive resistance, the Italian Government thinks that Germany has no interest in prolonging it, because she can neither expect France to tire or help to come to her from outside sources.

The French Ambassador was the last of the three Ambassadors to see Lord Curzon yesterday. Again the seal of official secrecy is put upon the interview. It is known, however, that the Comte de Saint Aulaire left no written document behind him. It would, therefore, seem that the desire of the British Government for a written note in reply to their questionnaire has not been complied with. At the same time, it is asserted on good authority that the French Ambassador was prepared during the interview to inform Lord Curzon fully and frankly of the views of the French Government on such points as the British Government desires to be informed upon, and one gathers that the Foreign Secretary, if he was not given a note in writing, could, if he pleased, himself reduce to writing during the interview all the points which up till then remained ambiguous. The crux of the whole difficulty seems still to be the question of passive resistance. It would seem that until passive resistance is abandoned by the Germans the deadlock remains.

WELSH COAL FOR U.S.

FEARED DECLINE IN AMERICAN MINING.

The Times New York Correspondent telegraphed yesterday:—Boston has just purchased 2,000 tons of Welsh anthracite for the city schools at a price said to be 34c. to 40c. (1s. 6d. to 1s. 9d.) lower than that of any Pennsylvanian anthracite available. Boston dealers are buying substantial quantities of Welsh coal, and more cargoes are reported in transit yesterday. The Special Investigating Committee of the Massachusetts Legislature reported that present indications were that a decline in, if not an actual stoppage of, coal-mining operations in Pennsylvania would occur after August 31, when the miners' wage agreement expires.

THE ART O'BRIEN APPEAL.

HOUSE OF LORDS' JUDGMENT.

The Times announces that the House of Lords will give its reasoned judgment in the Art O'Brien appeal case on Monday.

GOREY HOSPITAL.

DOCTOR CONTRADICTS GENERAL MULCAHY.

Dr. J. Dwyer, medical officer of Gorey District Hospital, writes to say that certain statements made by General Mulcahy in the Dail on the 4th inst., when the occupation of the hospital by the military was discussed, were incorrect. General Mulcahy said that there were three or four patients attended by three or four sisters.

"The following are the facts," says Dr. Dwyer:—

"Our daily average of occupied beds is twenty. At present there are twenty-two patients in the hospital. Of this number there are three operation cases, done in the hospital. The staff consists of three sisters. This staff has to do day and night duty. One of the sisters has to do all the clerical work, which is considerable, as well as her ordinary ward duty.

"The statement in the Dail was most unfair to the sisters in charge, as they have made the hospital a distinct success, and the hospital has been sanctioned under the new amalgamation scheme.

"I know it is the opinion of the people of the district that the hospital is much more a necessity for the sick poor than a convenience for the military."

STILL TALKING AT LAUSANNE.

EFFORT TO SPEED UP A SETTLEMENT.

DELAYS DUE TO RUHR PREOCCUPATION.

LAUSANNE, Friday.

With reference to the present position of the Lausanne negotiations, the Press Association's Correspondent is able to state that the Allied Governments who have been closely posted with developments at Lausanne are speeding up a settlement.

Lord Crewe is having another conversation in Paris to-day with M. Poincaré on the subject of the debt problem, which has now assumed a political aspect, and a solution of which cannot now be any longer delayed. A statement in the Paris Temps, however, that Lord Crewe has presented a formula in regard to debt is incorrect. Allied circles at Lausanne deny that there is any connection between the Lausanne deadlock and the Ruhr question, beyond the fact that the latter is preoccupying the heads of the Governments more than the situation at Lausanne.

As regards the decision of the Turks to reduce their delegation, which is larger than the other delegations, if this measure is intended in the nature of pressure, it leaves the Allied delegations indifferent. It may be mentioned that the British are reducing their number by the departure to-night of Mr. Waley, one of the financial experts, who has completed his services at Lausanne, and is required at the Treasury.

M. Venizelos is meeting Ismet Pasha to-day, with a view to settlement of a number of minor points outstanding between Greece and Turkey, upon which an agreement has already been reached between the Allies and Turkey, which will be embodied in a letter to be addressed to the Secretariat-General of the Conference.

Peace now depends on the settlement of the debt question.

IRISH INDUSTRIES.

QUESTION OF GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS.

In the annual report of the Dublin Industrial Development Association (Incorporated), which will be presented at the ordinary general meeting in Dublin on Tuesday next, special reference is made to the results of fiscal freedom in the Free State, and also to the matter of Government contracts.

The report states that, since the date of the Treaty, which brought with it fiscal freedom for the Free State, Irish industry has shown no signs of an early recuperation. The importation of foreign goods in competition with articles of Irish manufacture has not decreased, and many industries which were active in the period immediately preceding the Treaty are now closed down.

"Many manufacturers hold very strongly that the only way in which Irish trade can hold its own is by a well-thought-out system of protection, which will stimulate and assist young industries to grow into strong and vigorous life. Others hold that any Government interference with industry and commerce is bound to be detrimental, no matter how well intentioned. While there is general agreement that no ill-considered and precipitate legislative or administrative action should be taken, it is essential that each trade should have a clear understanding of its own requirements, and thus be in a position to speak with an authoritative voice when applied to, as it must be, for advice as to the needs of each industry."

With regard to Government contracts, the report says that grave reason for complaint on the part of Irish manufacturers still exists. If the responsible authorities would only exercise ordinary business foresight there would be no difficulty in having the great bulk of all orders executed in Ireland at a price which would favourably compare with that paid by the Government for imported goods.

"Many orders of considerable value have been placed abroad without any Irish firm being asked to quote, and in many cases deliveries from foreign firms have been far less satisfactory than they would have been if orders had been executed in Ireland.

"Such articles as uniform clothing, shirts, hosiery, mattresses, furniture, and boots, to mention only some of the best organised trades with considerable resources and capable of considerable speeding up to meet emergencies, could readily have been supplied from Irish sources; yet enormous quantities of all these goods were imported, while considerable unemployment prevailed."

A DUBLIN ROBBERY.

HOUSEKEEPER'S TRYING ORDEAL.

In the Dublin Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Lupton, K.C., Patrick McAnaspie, 18 Middle Gardiner street; William Fitzgerald, 15 Hill street; James Maxwell, 15 Grenville street; and John Lynch, 8 Temple lane, were charged on remand with conspiring to commit robbery at the premises of Messrs. M. and P. Hanlon, 21 Moore street, while armed with revolvers, and with stealing from the premises the sum of £37, a gold watch, a silver watch, and other articles, the property of Miss Mary O'Hagan. They were also charged with assaulting Miss O'Hagan.

Mr. O'Byrne (instructed by Mr. O'Flaherty, Chief State Solicitor's Office) prosecuted. Mr. James Brady appeared for Lynch, Mr. P. O'Reilly for Maxwell, Mr. Commins for McAnaspie, and Mr. P. Seales appeared for Messrs. Hanlon.

A member of the C.I.D. Force gave evidence of arresting the prisoners, and of searching their rooms, where he found money and the stolen articles.

Mr. Edward Hanlon, owner of the shop, 20 and 21 Moore street, said that he lived on the premises, but he did not know of anything wrong until the morning of 25th May, when he found that Miss O'Hagan had been assaulted.

Miss O'Hagan, who had been in Jervis Street Hospital, since 25th May, giving evidence, said that during the night of 25th May she was awakened by a noise in her room.

A man asked her for the keys of the safe, and when she did not comply he put a revolver into her mouth. Afterwards she was dragged from her bed and flung on the floor, while the men struck her several times with their clenched hands on the breast, and rendered her unconscious. She recognised the articles produced as her property.

Mr. Lupton, addressing Miss O'Hagan, said that he was sure that everyone was glad to see her about again, and that she would soon be restored to health.

Dr. Cotter, House Surgeon, Jervis street Hospital, said that when he saw Miss O'Hagan she was suffering from pain and shock. There was a wound about an inch on the forehead, and her eyes were black. She had several bruises on her body.

The prisoners were returned for trial to the next City Sessions, no bail being allowed.

ST. AGATHA'S FETE.

The St. Agatha's Fête at Shelbourne Park, Dublin, was opened last night by the Rev. Father O'Byrne, P.P., Ringsend, who, in a short address, explained the needs of St. Agatha's Orphanage, North William street, in aid of which the fête is being held.

All the attractions customary at a well-organised fête are provided, as well as several interesting competitions. Tug-o'-war, cycle handicaps, waltzing, Irish dancing, and skipping competitions will be held during the course of the fête.

Among the many attractive stalls, the Agatha, the Violet, the Tulip, and the Shamrock Stalls are particularly deserving of mention. Many useful articles are offered at tempting prices.

In the ballroom, which is under the direction of Mr. T. Cummins, sessions are held regularly. The Ceilidhe Hall, for lovers of the national dances, should draw big crowds.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the old dances are steadily being revived, and an astonishing number of people have already fallen under their sway. The Ceilidhe Hall has become, in the meantime, one of the chief features of every fête which is held in Dublin.

The fête, which is under the patronage of Dr. Byrne, Archbishop of Dublin, will continue until July 15.

IDLE WHARVES AND QUAYS.

EFFECT OF DOCKERS' STRIKE ON LONDON.

DUBLIN PORT TROUBLES.

While there was little extension of the dockers' strike in England yesterday, the situation still remains serious. Generally speaking, the men show no disposition to accept their leaders' advice and return to work on Monday. There is hope in the fact, however, that a number of the Liverpool dockers resumed work yesterday, and all strikers at the Merseyside are expected to be back again next week.

London is beginning to feel the effect of the strike. There is no work at most of the large docks, and ships with hundreds of tons of cargo of all kinds are undischarged. The shortage of meat at Smithfield Market will raise the price of beef at the week-end; but, if the strike should be settled on Monday, there will be a glut of meat, and prices will fall again.

There was no change in the strike of seamen and firemen at Dublin yesterday. The employment not only of seamen, but of carters and dockers, is affected by the strike, and two thousand men are already on the idle list

A CITY'S FOOD SUPPLIES.

PERISHABLE GOODS IN DANGER.

Work is almost at a standstill at the majority of the docks in the London area, where huge cargoes of imported meat, bacon, dairy produce, and other perishable goods remain unloaded. A general air of desolation prevails at the wharves and quays. Supplies of chilled and imported meat reached Smithfield market yesterday, the food ships having been diverted to Southampton and Liverpool, where cargoes were transferred by rail to London. Trade at the market, however, is described as being bad. Butchers, it was stated yesterday morning, had to pay dearer for their meat, and as the extra cost is expected to be passed on to the consumer, householders will have to pay more for the week-end joint.

Meanwhile, the Government is closely watching developments in the direction of any menace to the food supplies, and it is understood that preparations are in progress for the establishment of a scheme of transport to maintain supplies in the event of a prolongation or extension of the strike. The action taken by the Transport Workers' Union in instructing members to return to work by Monday will, it is hoped, have an appreciable effect upon the situation.

Mr. Milman, Superintendent of the Central Markets, Smithfield, said that with a shortage of meat the price must inevitably go up. If the men go back on Monday, however, the market will be flooded with released supplies, and prices will immediately fall. The hot weather, which discourages an appetite for meat, is likely to prove a helpful factor in keeping down prices during the shortage.

LIVERPOOL AND MANCHESTER.

Strikers at Liverpool returned to work yesterday afternoon. A full resumption of work at Liverpool and Birkenhead is expected at the beginning of next week. The strikers at Liverpool number about eight hundred, and at Birkenhead eleven hundred.

At Liverpool yesterday Thomas McQuiggin, Communist, was charged with disorderly conduct during the dockers' strike. He was remanded.

Despite the call to work, more men have come out in Manchester to join the dockers on strike. Four hundred warehousemen were among their numbers yesterday morning. A surprising development is the picketing of warehouses, roads and docks. Business is practically at a stand-still.

Railway clerks at Grimsby yesterday discharged part of a cargo of butter, but the railwaymen in the transit sheds declined to handle it.

WELSH STRIKERS

CALL FOR RESIGNATIONS.

Regarding Mr. Bevin's advice to resume on Monday, the Cardiff strikers yesterday decided to continue the stoppage, pending a mass meeting on Sunday. A resolution also was passed demanding the resignation of the present leaders and officials of the union.

The Newport dockers, however, have declined an invitation to join the Cardiff strikers, and continue working.

HULL MEN'S OFFER.

Hull dockers at a meeting last night offered to return to work on Monday at the old rate of pay (11s. per day), on condition that a Committee of Inquiry was immediately set up locally to investigate the cost of living figure. The Lord Mayor was suggested as chairman, with assessors representing the employers and dock workers, to inquire into the actual household budgets of dock workers.

GLASGOW MAKING MONEY.

So far the Glasgow dockers have declined to join the strikers at the other ports. This is one of the busiest periods at Glasgow Harbour, as a big spurt is on in clearing ships before the annual holidays begin next Thursday, and the dockers are keen to secure as much money as possible in the meantime.

LEADERS' VIEWS.

MR. THOMAS MISUNDERSTOOD

Railwaymen at Crewe yesterday passed a resolution of condolence with the relatives of the victims of the railway disaster at Diggle.

Mr. H. Thomas made a personal explanation regarding his reference to the dockers' dispute, and said that he had been misconstrued. He denied any desire to encourage the men against the instructions of their officials, and said that he recognised that agreements once made must be observed and honoured.

MENACE TO WORKING CONDITIONS.

In a statement yesterday, Mr. Robert Williams, General Secretary of the Transport Workers' Federation, said that the present strike action is a most serious threat against working conditions established by years of patient effort, and no other course was open to the Union primarily concerned and to the Federation than to call upon all the men loyally to carry out the agreement made in their name and signed on their behalf. Strike action of an impulsive character against the executive authority of a responsible Union would only impair the organisation, and leave the men in an indefensible position. The agreement, with any defects surrounding it, could only be improved by national negotiation.

TRANSPORT WORKERS' CONFERENCE.

It was announced officially yesterday evening that owing to the strike it had been decided that the annual conference of the Transport and General Workers' Union, which was to have been held in Hull throughout week, should be transferred to London.

There was a further, but private, meeting of the Dock Group Committee of the Union at Kensington headquarters yesterday, and at its close Mr. Ernest Bevin, secretary of the union, made the following statement to a representative of the Press:—"There has been very little extension of the strike to-day. The Dock Group Committee of the Union have again reviewed the position, and adhere rigidly to their decision to instruct the strikers to return to work on Monday next. They have also decided to instruct officers that all meetings to deal with the problem held under the auspices of the union shall be held in halls, and only members of the union admitted to them. A good many meetings have been attended by people not affected by the dispute. Therefore, the business of the union is to be kept within the union."

ARRESTS IN TIPPERARY.

Three arrests were made by the military in the Tipperary district on Thursday night. They were Matthew Barlow, Shrough; J. Frewen, and Lawrence Breen, Donohil. Lawrence Breen, who is a brother of Dan Breen, was arrested at Donohil.

DUBLIN PORT TROUBLE.

2,000 MEN NOW IDLE.

The strike of seamen and firemen at the Port of Dublin has not yet been settled. Yesterday neither the employers nor the men had any development to report, and so far as could be seen there was little prospects of an immediate arrangement.

Along the quays yesterday work went on as usual. There was only one incident of note during the day. A steamer named the Bonawe arrived from Liverpool with a general cargo. Believing that the vessel was carrying traffic which is usually brought by the British and Irish Line steamers, dockers refused to unload the cargo. The mistake was explained a little later and the unloading of the cargo was begun.

The four remaining steamers of the British and Irish Company are still in the port, and it now seems possible that they may not be taken away for some time. It is not expected that they will leave until the dockers' strike in England has been settled. There was no arrival yesterday from Bristol, and the absence of a steamer is attributable to the strike of dockers there.

The ss. Aughton, which came specially from Dunkerque to assist in Messrs. Guinness's export trade, is still in the Liffey. Another vessel which was loaded by the brewery some days ago is still at her berth, owing, it is said, to the trouble across the Channel.

For the present, at all events, Dublin's tea and sugar supplies are safe. As long as the Holyhead boats continue to run twice, and sometimes three times, daily to the North Wall, no shortage need be feared. In addition, the Glasgow steamers bring from 150 to 200 tons of sugar each trip from the Clyde, and Continental and Transatlantic steamers are frequently carriers of sugar to the Liffey.

Five thousand wooden cases of candles arrived at the North Wall yesterday morning. The receipt of this [illegible] cargo [illegible] that electric light and gas h[illegible] found their way, as illuminants, [illegible] a good many Irish homes.

The United States steamer Balsam, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the recent collision in Belfast Lough, was listed to leave Dublin last night. She intends to call at Cork with part cargo before going to New York. The Dutch steamer Spaarnestroom brought a part cargo of general goods to the Liffey yesterday, having called at Belfast before coming down the Channel to Dublin.

The throwing out of employment of carters and checkers by the strike of seamen has swelled the ranks of the workless at the port, and about 2,000 men are now idle.

COASTAL DEFENCE.

DR. COLAHAN AND THE NEW CORPS.

The Most Rev. Dr. Colahan visited Haulbowline Dockyard yesterday at noon, and performed the ceremony of blessing the flag of the Irish Coastal Defence Corps, as well as the island of Haulbowline.

Addressing General Morris and the officers and men of the coastal and [illegible] service, about four hundred of whom were present, the Bishop said that they were symbols of the wonderful progress that the Irish Free State had made in the recovery of her independence and nationality. They were now charged with the responsibility of protecting the income of the Free State from smuggling, as well as the fishermen of the State from poachers, and of co-operating with the military to prevent anything that would be against the safety of the Free State.

COUNTY DUBLIN RAID.

£15 STOLEN FROM POST OFFICE.

Two men drove up to Dundrum (County Dublin) Post Office in a motor van, yesterday at noon, entered the building, intimidated the postmistress with revolvers, and stole £15. The men then re-entered their motor vehicle and drove off along the Rathfarnham road.

NORTHERN HONOURS LIST.

NO REWARD FOR PUBLIC SERVICES.

In the course of a letter to the Belfast newspapers, a correspondent, who signs himself "Citizen," takes exception to the selection of the Northern recipients of honours in the King's Birthday List. Taking 35 names, which, he says, obviously were nominated by the Northern Prime Minister, he finds that 30 are public officials, civil servants, and police officers, all in receipt of salaries from the public purse. The remaining five are District Commandants of the Special Constabulary, who may, or may not, be paid for their services. While he has no wish to reflect on the merit of the services of these gentlemen, whom he regards as most loyal, efficient, and enthusiastic, he desires to draw attention to the one-sided distribution of honours, and the growing tendency to bestow the dignities and decorations on servants of the public who are already well rewarded by salary and pension rights. He believes that the King would be delighted to honour the men who give a large proportion of valuable time and their expert knowledge at the disposal of the State free of charge to the public.

THE LAND BILL DEBATE.

FARMS BOUGHT BY CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES IN 1920.

NEW SECTIONS ADOPTED.

At yesterday's meeting the Dail made further progress with the Land Bill. The alliance between the Farmers' Party and the Labour Party, which was a feature of the previous day's proceedings, was no longer in evidence. Indeed, the farmers' representatives were among the most vigorous critics of some of the amendments that were put forward by the Labour Party.

New sections were adopted to meet the peculiar conditions in which certain farms were bought by co-operative farming societies during 1920 and 1921 with money advanced by the National Land Bank.

THE DAIL.

HOWTH ABBEY.

PRESERVATION OF "THE COLLEGE."

[illegible] Dail yesterday, Mr. E. H. Alton ([illegible] University) asked the President [illegible] the Government were taking any [illegible] to prevent the erection of a shop in the ancient building known as "The College," which forms a portion of the Abbey at Howth, and whether, in view of the fact that the building was probably the only example of such structures left in Ireland, the Government would endeavour to protect it and secure it for the nation.

Mr. Finian Lynch, replying for the President, said that the Abbey was under the guardianship of the Board of Works as a monument, but the ancient building known as "The College," which formed part of the Abbey, was not included in the premises [illegible] in the Board. If the deputy gave [illegible] further information on which he based [illegible] views as to the historic interest of the [illegible], it would be considered with a view [illegible] protecting and securing it for the nation.

Mr. Alton said that he would produce such evidence.

RAILWAY REPAIRS.

Mr. Lynch, answering Mr. Michael Hennessey, for the Minister of Industry and Commerce, said that on the Dungarvan-Waterford railway branch the main repair was that of Ballyvoile viaduct. The work was of an especially difficult nature, and had been delayed by an alteration in the method of repair, which was so designed as to keep as much of the work as possible in the country. That would necessarily delay the work of repair some months.

On the Mallow-Dungarvan and Fermoy-Mitchelstown branches all damage had been made good, with the exception of the Carrig viaduct and the bridge at Cappoquin. The repair of the Carrig viaduct was due for completion on the 22nd August.

The repair of the Cappoquin bridge, if no interruption to the work was caused by any stoppage at the ports, was due for completion on or about the same date.

ARMY ACCOUNTS.

Answering Mr. Michael Hennessey, Mr. Finian Lynch (for the Minister of Defence) said that a considerable clearance had taken place in the matter of paying outstanding accounts in the Cork area. The number that remained unpaid was comparatively small, and consisted principally of accounts whose certification was difficult owing to the particular circumstances in which they were incurred.

A special responsible officer had within the last few days been sent to Cork to report on the immediate steps required to clear up all outstanding accounts in the city and county. He would be glad to receive from the deputy a written statement of any information at his disposal that might help in the matter.

THE LAND BILL.

LABOUR AND COMPULSORY TILLAGE.

The House resumed consideration of amendments to the Land Bill.

Mr. Johnson moved an amendment to Section 25, which refers to subsequent purchase agreements by tenants. His amendment was to add to the sub-section the following:—

"Provided that the Land Commission is satisfied that the tenant is cultivating, and will cultivate, the land as an ordinary farm in accordance with the methods of husbandry, and if he fails to satisfy the Land Commission within a period of five years from the appointed day, he shall no longer be deemed to have entered into a purchase agreement for the purchase of the holding."

The object of the amendment, Mr. Johnson exclaimed, was to see that the land was properly tilled, and to militate against the grazing system. It was to secure that a reasonable proportion of the land should be brought into cultivation.

Mr. Hogan said that there was an amendment to Section 28, which was in the same sense. He was prepared to accept an amendment on some such lines. There was no real reason for the present amendment in regard to tenanted lands, as it would apply only in a few cases—2 or 3 per cent., perhaps.

Mr. Johnson said that the amendment might have the effect of bringing sufficient pressure to bear on the 2 or 3 per cent. of cases to induce cultivation. Experience showed that if the farmer was given enough to make his holding economic he would work it economically.

Mr. Gorey, opposing the amendment, said that it was always people who knew nothing about farming who brought on issues like that. The State would do the worst thing it could if it introduced compulsion into agricultural affairs. The amendment was, he held, the thin edge of the wedge for compulsory tillage.

Mr. T. Johnson said that it was always the policy of the landlords to say that they owned the land, and could do what they liked with it. That led to the depopulation of Ireland. The land was held in trust, and the tenant had no right to let it go to ruin or let it for grazing when it would mean the depopulation of the country.

Mr. Gerald FitzGibbon, K.C., said that if this was to be done by the Land Commission the amendment was feasible. If it was to be done by the tenant making a declaration that he would do a certain thing then the amendment was meaningless.

Mr. J. McBride said that every farmer must be as free as any shopkeeper in the City of Dublin. (Hear, hear.)

"A HOLDING."

Mr. Kevin O'Higgins said that there was no absolute property in land. It was spoken of as "a holding." It was not absolute property, like a man's watch was. Land had [illegible] taken from time to time for railways [illegible] purposes, and the Government had [illegible] that principle in taking land and [illegible] Civic Guard barracks. He [illegible] the amendment was calculated to [illegible]

[illegible] FitzGibbon had said, it suffered [illegible] What was an ordinary [illegible] to decide whether the tenant [illegible]tinue to cultivate it as an [illegible] There would be [illegible] to the proper methods [illegible] quality of the land, [illegible] etc., and they would [illegible] task on whoever [illegible] amendment if it became [illegible]

The Land Commission shall have for the recovery of such additional sum the same remedies as they have for the recovery of unpaid instalments of purchase annuity."

The House agreed to an amendment by Mr. Burke to allow of advances for purchase of parcels of land to be made to trustees.

Mr. Hennessy, for Mr. de Roiste, moved two amendments to Section 28, to include former tenants in the classes to whom advances might be made for the purchase from the Land Commission of parcels of land.

The Minister said the object of the amendments was secured in a later one by Mr. O'Maille, which he would accept. The section made it obligatory for the Land Commission to deal with all tenants evicted since 1916, but if they would be able to deal with them he would be more than surprised. The amendment he had agreed to would enable the Land Commission, in selecting persons for holdings, to take into account cases of eviction before 1878.

The amendment was accordingly withdrawn, and later Mr. O'Maille moved his amendment, which was accepted.

Mr. Wilson—As there is not sufficient land for both congests and evicted tenants, who will be given preference?

Mr. Hogan said that the Land Commission would, of course, deal with congests first, and there would be sufficient land left to deal with deserving evicted tenants.

ADVANCES.

Some minor amendments having been withdrawn, or in one or two cases accepted without discussion, the House considered two amendments to sub-section 2 of Section 28, which deals with advances for purchase of parcels of land. One of the amendments was put forward by the Labour Party, in the names of Mr. R. Day and Mr. William Davin.

The amendment proposed to substitute for sub-section 2 the following:—"A parcel to be purchased under the provisions of this section shall not be vested in the person to whom the advance is made for a period of five years from the date of the advance, and if within that period such person fails to satisfy the Land Commission that he is using and cultivating the land in accordance with proper methods of husbandry, or if he applies for permission to sell, let, or assign the land, the parcel shall not be vested but shall be resumed by the Land Commission, and an advance may be made for the purchase of the parcel to some other person upon the like conditions."

An amendment moved by Mr. Gorey (in his own name and the names of Messrs. Wilson and Dineen) to the same sub-section, proposed to add the words:—"And if within a period of five years (during which the holding shall not be vested) from the date of the advance to any such person these requirements be not fulfilled, the Land Commission shall have the power to resume the land and to place another tenant in occupation."

Mr. Gorey explained that he wanted to have a definite term of probation set down. The object of his amendment was to ensure that land would not be [illegible] to men who had no agricultural training.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that there was a danger of the purchaser lapsing into a state of laziness after the term of probation. He thought that there was a case for inspection by the Land Commission for that reason.

Mr. Wilson said that he was not in favour of having a farmer on perpetual probation.

MINISTER'S VIEW.

Mr. Hogan remarked that he was not in favour of inspection being carried out both during and after probation, particularly when they put a tenant purchaser on the land under conditions that would allow him to get the best out of it. There was very little difference, after all, between the farmers and the Labour Party on the matter.

Mr. Gorey said that he thought that a man would show his worth in five years.

Mr. Hogan suggested as an amendment that an addition be made to Sub-Section 2, to the effect that the agreement between the applicant and the Land Commission for the purchase of a parcel of land should in all cases provide that the parcel should not be vested in the applicant, unless the Land Commission were satisfied that it was being worked by him in accordance with the proper methods of husbandry. If they were not so satisfied the Land Commission should have the power to resume the land and place another tenant in occupation.

Both of the original amendments were withdrawn in favour of that suggested by Mr. Hogan, which was put to the House and accepted.

On Section 34, governing the ascertainment of lands to be vested in the Land Commission, Mr. Gorey moved an amendment to add a new sub-section that in case of any holding purchased under a previous Land Act, which is still subject to a superior interest, or other charge existing from before the time of the sale, the redemption price of the charge shall, on application of the registered owner, be determined by the Judicial Commission, and shall be paid off by the issue of such charge of 4½ per cent. Land Bonds, and the amount thereof shall be deemed to be an advance under the Act, and be repayable by means of an annuity to be charged upon the lands, and consolidated with the existing purchase annuity, if any. The contribution of price shall not be payable in respect of any transaction under this section.

Mr. Hogan said that he was in sympathy with the principle of the amendment, and suggested that its object may be met on the report stage.

This clause was agreed to, and the amendment was withdrawn, Sections 34 to 36 being allowed to stand part of the bill.

MAINTENANCE WORK.

Mr. Gorey moved an amendment to Sub-section 1 of Section 37, which provides that where a watercourse, drain, embankment or other work has been maintained in whole or in part at the expense of the landlord, or, in the case of untenanted land, by the owner, there might, out of the Land Bonds representing the purchase money, be transferred sufficient to yield an income equivalent to the average annual expenditure incurred by the landlord or owner in cleansing or maintenance during a period of ten normal years. The amendment sought to include the foreshore as one of the works dealt with, and to have set aside bonds adequate to place the said works in repair.

Mr. Gorey said that the amendment was meant to meet cases in which the landlords had neglected those works, which in consequence were in a bad condition.

The Minister said that if the amendment was passed the purchase money would in 99 cases out of 100 be eaten up in putting those works in proper repair. It would be for the Land Commission to say what ordinary maintenance work was to be done, but they were not going to carry out the drainage of the Barrow. He would undertake to add words to meet particular cases referred to by Deputies.

The amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. Gorey had down an amendment to Section 38, which deals with sporting rights and fisheries within the meaning of Section 13 of the Act of 1903. Those rights are by the section to vest in the Land Commission. The amendment was—"Shall in the case of tenanted land vest in the tenant."

The Minister could not accept the amendment in as far as it affected fisheries, which must vest in the Land Commission. The sporting rights of tenanted land would vest with the tenant, and he was prepared to have this made clear in the section on the report stage.

Mr. FitzGibbon said that the amendment would be a serious thing for the fisheries of the country, which could be made of great value to the State. He foresaw how a river could be ruined for fishing purposes if tenants on opposite banks exercised the rights the amendment would give them.

The amendment was then withdrawn.

The House next took up the consideration of eight amendments set down by the Minister of Local Government. The amendments proposed to add eight new sections, which, in effect, provide that land purchase by co-operative societies with money advanced by the Land Bank in the years 1920-21 shall now be vested in the Land Commission, the latter to pay the bank in 4½ per cent. Land Bonds.

Mr. Figgis said that in these sections they had the introduction to the bill of something that had not been in it before. He thought that it would be fairer to whatever they intended to achieve to deal with them all at once.

Mr. Hogan said that the object of the amendments was quite clear. During the years 1920-21 the National Land Bank had financed land purchase to the extent of about £339,000. A number of men had got together and purchased land in fee-simple. The National Land Bank had put up the purchase money, and had compelled the purchasers to form co-operative societies. It was to the co-operative societies that the money was advanced. The case then was that so far as that £339,000 was concerned, the Land Bank held mortgages to that amount on the land.

The trouble was that most of these societies were paying 7 per cent. for the money. That was all right in 1920, but at present it was not an economic proposition.

"We are coming to the help of the societies," explained the Minister, "and advancing the money. In effect we are buying the land from the societies, and are selling it to them and buying off the Land Bank mortgages."

Taking a specific case, the Minister pointed out that the society had the advantage of getting the money at 4½ per cent. instead of paying 7 per cent., as they would otherwise.

Mr. Blythe, Minister of Local Government, then moved the different amendments, which were accepted by the House virtually without discussion. The Minister explained that the total number of acres which had been purchased was 10,730. There was no doubt that the transactions had served a very good purpose in their time, and there was no reason why the purchasers should now be let down.

BALLYHAISE STRIKE.

On the motion for the adjournment, Mr. O'Shannon drew attention to a strike of agricultural labourers at present in existence at the Department of Agriculture's experimental station at Ballyhaise, Co. Cavan. On the direction of the Ministry of Finance, the men got notice about June 17th that their wages would be reduced by 10s. a week in two "cuts" of 5s. The reduction took place on June 21st, and the men refused to accept it, as it would leave them with 30s for a 54-hour week.

He further complained that no notification of the reduction was given to the men's union, and the Department made no attempt to get in touch with the union to bring about a settlement of the dispute. The union's offer of a conference was not replied to.

The Minister for Agriculture replied that nothing had been done hastily in the matter of the reduction. It had been ascertained that the wages offered were the highest for the same class of work paid in the locality, and accepted by men in the same union. As for the complaint that the union had not been consulted, if the union put its case in writing he would undertake to bring it before the Inter-Departmental Committee.

The House at 4.15 adjourned until 3 o'clock on Monday.

BLACKROCK URBAN DISTRICT.

A REPLY TO CRITICISM.

Mr. John P. McCabe, Chairman of the Blackrock Urban District, writes as follows:—

"In view of the indiscriminating charges of inefficiency and mismanagement alleged against the Blackrock Urban Council by the newly-formed Ratepayers' Association —in the public Press and by propaganda in the district—I am, as Chairman of the Council, in a position to speak with authority on the matters referred to. The Association fastens upon an advance of 4s. 1d. in the rates this year, and then proceeds to build up charges of inefficiency by discovering certain things already marked out by the Council for gradual improvement, and also by enumerating other proposals which could only have the effect of further increasing the rates.

"Of the 4s. 1d. increase which is so much emphasised, 1s. 10d. must be placed at the door of the County Council for poor rate and malicious injuries, the collection of which, without option—as the Association should know—is laid by law upon the Urban Council. The remaining 2s. 3d. is made up of 1s. 6d. occasioned by taking advantage of the Government free grant of nearly £20,000 for housing, of which increase one shilling is only for the present year, and the other sixpence disappears concurrently with the recoupment of the Government loan, as embodied in the scheme. This scheme provides employment in erecting 39 much-needed houses; their rateable valuation will be a new asset for the township, and their proposed sale to occupying owners will provide a monetary nucleus for the development of other reproductive municipal improvements, while also furnishing the township with a splendid site available for further housing plans, together with providing spacious premises already existing, and yard accommodation for township plant and material, which should lead to efficient working at lessened charges. The remaining increase of 9d. in the rates is easily explained by some limited, but necessary, road improvements and foreshore works; and also by the purchase of motor lorries, with other equipment and material, with a view to future efficiency and, it is hoped, retrenchment in cost of working.

"The Ratepayers' Association does not seem to take account of the exceptional difficulties of the past few years, when the increased cost of living had to be met by augmented wages, which the Council partially countered by working with reduced staff and somewhat impaired efficiency; but now that it has been arranged that wages cuts of 3s. weekly shall take place in August and again in December, and possibly another cut in 1924, it is expected that a more normal condition of affairs will obtain. I do not observe that the Association shower any congratulations on the Council for the shilling reduction in the rates which was effected last year, and that even this year's figures are almost in line with neighbouring townships; nor do I notice any recognition that Blackrock has had for some years the lowest death-rate in Ireland, a fact hardly compatible with alleged municipal neglect.

"The Association mentions the occurrence of a small fire, and has commented on the water supply of the district, while admitting that the fire appliances and men were quickly upon the scene, and the water supply ample, but they place stress upon the water supply being checked at night, apparently oblivious that the water is metered by the Dublin Corporation to the Township, and that daily consumption is 33 gallons per head of the population, and, if unchecked at night, rises to 48 gallons per head, at a proportionately increased charge payable by the ratepayers, but, as before observed, the arrangements have meen found adequate when fire has been notified. The cost of a motor fire engine and fire brigade has been discussed, and the Council would be glad to see their way to the expenditure, which would be considerable. The Ratepayers' Association could, perhaps, assist by the formation of a volunteer brigade for service when called upon.

"The Association, while giving prominence to minor remediable matters, ignore many things in connection with the work of the Urban Council which might be given credit for, and even a word of praise, as the Park and football field, with improvements held up for want of money; foreshore and bathing improvements, not yet complete, but partially so; the children's playground on Temple road; the 280 artisans' dwellings; and excellent public baths and wash-houses; the successful Technical Schools and Library, etc.

"For more than 10 years I have given continuous and voluntary services in the Blackrock Urban District, in the company of numerous able members of the Council, many of whom have passed away, and I can testify that the affairs of the Township have always been administered with sedulous care and economy, and with efficiency proportionate to the means at our disposal. I may add that our electricity scheme, approved by the Ministry, only awaits sanction of the Free State Government, which, it is understood, will be given as soon as possible."

A STRIKE RIOT DESCRIBED.

FARMERS' CONVOY ATTACKED.

NINE MEN SENT FOR TRIAL.

Nine labourers from the Ballygunner district of County Waterford were sent for trial at a District Court in Waterford yesterday on a charge of riot and unlawful assembly arising out of the farm strike. The alleged offences took place on May 22nd last.

Mr. Nicholas Power, Ballinkina, described the scene at Knockboy, where a farmers' convoy was held up by between fifty and sixty labourers, who ripped open sacks of meal, flour, and manure, and scattered the contents around the roads. Mr. Power said that he was attacked by fifteen or twenty men, who upset his cart and spilled its contents. In the course of the melee he was hit on the head with a stick, for which he had to be medically treated.

Mr. John Flynn, another farmer, said that the labourers were armed with sticks and knives, and were very hostile. He believed that if he or his fellow-farmers resisted they would have been subjected to much violence.

In opposing bail, except for very substantial amounts, Mr. Ryan, State Solicitor, said that he was instructed by the Civic Guard that in the time which had elapsed since this occurrence over one hundred attacks on farmers and property had been reported.

DUBLIN AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE AND CINEMA PROGRAMMES.

Next week's programme at the Theatre Royal includes Talbot O'Farrell, entertainer; Jimmy Nervo and Teddy Knox, in a comedy act; Arthur Astill and Gwen Fontaine, in "Vocal Gymnastics." Pyramid building will be the entertainment of the Syrian Troupe of Acrobats. Other players are Louie Louise, comedienne and dancer; and Tom Fagan, who will introduce his "pack."

The chief entertainment at the Tivoli Theatre will be provided by Duncan's Scotch Collies. There are to be three comedians—Hal Penman, and Frank Delco and Partner —and two dancing performances by the Mizzetti Sisters, and the Seven Gulliver Girls. Miss Hervey received her early training with Sir Frank Benson, and is a great-great grand-daughter of Lord Edward Fitz-Gerald. Both players have had London successes, and Mr. Grey gave performances of Iago, Cassius, Bassanio, etc., at the Gaiety Theatre earlier in the year.

At the Metropole Cinema, Sackville street, the attraction next week will be "The Three Ages," a comedy, in which Margaret Leahy, a comparatively new cinema "star," takes the chief part. The story deals with the Stone Age, the Roman Age, and the present.

The Duchess of Dantzic is a character in "The Son of Madam Sans Gene," a film based on the novel of Emile Moreau, which will be shown at La Scala Cinema, Sackville street.

The Carlton Cinema's chief film is "Ducks and Drakes," with Bebe Daniels and Jack Holt in the chief parts. Betty Compson will appear on Thursday in "At the End of the World."

A series of concerts and dramas under the auspices of the Gaelic League will be given in the Gaiety Theatre during the week commencing July 23.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

IRELAND AND INCOME TAX.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—A few mornings ago I cashed in bank some dividend warrants, among them being a warrant of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for interest on their Debenture Stock, from which no income tax had been deducted, contrary to the invariable practice. The other warrants were from English companies, on which the tax for 4s. 6d. was deducted in the usual way. I was more or less elated on receiving my Canadian Pacific dividend free of income tax, when, alas! I got a communication from the bank this morning stating that they had been instructed to collect income tax on the Canadian Pacific warrants at the rate of 5s. in the pound. Had the tax been stopped at the English side, as heretofore, the rate would have been 4s. 6d., the same as is charged on the English warrants. It is like trying to square the circle.—Yours, etc.,

M. DONOHOE.

Clonalon, Meath road, Bray,
July 5th, 1923.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Surely Lord Decies, in his letter of the 5th instant, has over-stated the facts? Unless we are all grievously mistaken the arrangements made by the Irish Free State Government, taken in conjunction with the British Finance Act, 1920, insure an individual taxpayer in practically all cases against double taxation on the same income. I understand that where income tax is charged on the same income both in the United Kingdom and in the Irish Free State relief will be given equivalent to the tax at the lower of the rates imposed. In other words, the taxpayer will bear one of the two rates only—the greater of the two. If this be so, the most that will be paid in either of the two cases cited by Lord Decies by way of illustration is 5s. in the pound.

The method of calculating the relief, however, is very complicated, and I fully agree with Lord Decies that a clear statement, couched in language that the ordinary taxpayer can understand, is overdue. What is still more "urgently essential" at the moment is an official pronouncement that limited companies carrying on business both in the United Kingdom and the Free State (e.g., a Dublin company with a branch in Belfast) will not have to pay double tax—a question upon which apparently considerable doubt exists.—Yours, etc.,

G. H. TULLOCH.

Belfast, July 6th, 1923.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I have read the letter of "R. M. St. A." in your paper to-day, and, although it is consoling so far as it goes, it leaves the question of the method by which the Free State will levy its proportion of the tax still in doubt; and I have been unable to get any trustworthy information on the subject. I have been informed on what I believe to be good authority that the full English tax of 4s. 6d will be deducted on all English dividends paid to Irish residents, and that the Free State will claim payment in addition from such Irish resident of 2s. 9d., and leave him to claim a refund from the English Government of 2s. 3d., portion of the 4s. 6d. originally deducted.

Everyone who has any experience of the trouble and delay of obtaining a refund of income tax will realise what such an arrangement will mean to every Irish resident who has money invested in English securities.—Yours, etc.,

ECONOMIC LAWS AND IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Mr. S. P. Preston draws attention to the fact that Ireland is in a different position to the United States of America and the Germanic Zollverein, both of which facts I was perfectly aware of. My object is to have the whole matter discussed. If Mr. Preston is satisfied that Ireland should remain as she was in the past—namely, a nation inhabiting a country with the best climate and the most naturally fertile soil in the world, but with a population, in the rough, of about half that of Belgium, although she is nearly three times its size—I do not think he will get many of the electors to agree with him. No doubt, he may think we would be worse off if we had protection, and if he tells us his reasons, he may convert us before the election.

As a rule, I notice that none of the opponents of protection seems inclined to come into the open. My arguments in favour of protection may be poor, but no arguments against it have been brought forward. We are quite open to conviction.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN SWEETMAN.

Drumbaragh, Kells, July 5th, 1923.

DEATH DUTIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The British Government entered into a contract with the holders of Victory Bonds to accept these Bonds at par for death duty purposes, and, in consequence of this, were able to place them at a lower rate of interest than other Government Securities, with the result that during the intervening years we were content to receive a smaller income in exchange for an eventual larger capital repayment. It is obviously no answer to say that, if dissatisfied, we can sell our present holdings. That solution might, perhaps, fairly enough apply to holders of 4% tax-compounded Bonds, but Victory Bond owners are in a different position. By selling now we should not only lose the difference in interest during the past intervening years, but the benefit of the contract entered into with the British Government for the ultimate acceptance of these Bonds at face value—in other words, a loss on present prices of something like £80 for every £1,000 of Bonds.

When two private individuals enter into a contract one of the parties cannot get rid of his obligation by transferring it to a third party, and that is precisely the position in which Victory Bond owners stand in respect of their relation with the British and Free State Governments. The former have transferred their rights and obligations to the latter, and it is unthinkable that in consequence thereof the original rights of the Victory Bond owners should be rendered liable to confiscation and treated as waste paper.

I believe that very few of the Irish holders have yet realised the position. Otherwise energetic steps would have been taken ere this, by public meeting, deputation or other means, to safeguard their threatened interests.—Yours, etc.,

"VITAL IMPORTANCE."

CARE OF TUBERCULOUS CHILDREN.

Mr. William Ireland presided at the annual meeting of the National Children's Hospital, Harcourt street, Dublin, on Thursday. There were also present Sir Lambert Ormsby, M.D.; Sir Simon Maddock, Major Arthur Whewell, Mr. T. N. Edgeworth, D.L.; Dr. Trevor Smith, and Mr. Cecil McDougald, Hon. Secretary.

The report stated that the year had been a trying one owing to unsettled conditions in the country, and the amount received in subscriptions was much smaller than in previous years. The pot collections also were much less, and the usual grant from the Dublin Hospital Sunday Fund was not included in the balance sheet, as it came in February. A half-year's grant from the Dublin Corporation, however, was included.

The attendance at the out-patient department was 7,254 and the number of in-patients was 228.

The hospital started the year 1922 with an adverse balance of £2,476, and, after nine months' working, there was a deficit of £329, leaving the debit balance on January 1st, 1923, of £2,805. A large proportion of this, the Committee trusted, would be wiped out by the Carnival held in June.

The report was adopted.

SIR LAMBERT ORMSBY'S APPEAL.

Sir Lambert Ormsby, as senior medical officer to the institution, said that last year and for many years he had spoken of a subject which he considered of vital importance. He had, as they all knew, a very long experience in the treatment of diseases peculiar to children, and he had thought very deeply on the hopelessness of treating extensive tuberculous disease of bones and joints in the closed wards of a city hospital. For years he had refused admittance to the general hospital with which he was connected of all tuberculous children for a longer period than was necessary to correct urgent and unsightly deformities.

He strongly urged the committee and the charitable public to collect funds to build a children's country hospital, attached to and run in connection with this institution, in the pure country air or at the seaside, where the little patients could bask out of doors in pure air and sunshine. This would be a departure sure to succeed, and would be to the lasting benefit of the children. He said that if they only could induce charitable people to subscribe the money work on the building could be commenced at once.

At present infants from one month and children up to 13 years were treated in the hospital, as had been the custom since the institution was established in 1821. As could be seen, many of their patients were placed in outdoor corridors, where they stayed in the fresh air night and day.

On the motion of Sir Lambert Ormsby, seconded by Mr. Edgeworth, the following committee was elected:—The Viscount Powerscourt, K.P., H.M.L.; Lt.-Col. Sir Lambert H. Ormsby, M.D., D.L.; the Right Hon. T. L. O'Shaughnessy, P.C.; Lt.-Col. A. L'Estrange, A. H. Ormsby-Hamilton, Esq., D.L.; Alderman Mrs. Kathleen Clarke, Councillor Richard H. White, William Ireland, Esq., J.P.; T. N. Edgeworth, Esq., D.L.; Myles Keogh, Esq., L.D.S.I.; Dr. Trevor Smith, F.R.C.S.; Maxwell Arnott, Esq.; Sir S. W. Maddock, D.L.; Major Arthur Whewell, Lady Ormsby, Thomas Armstrong, Esq.

CHURCH NOTES.

The people of Tristan da Cunha have been greatly delighted and much encouraged by the visit of H.M.S. Dublin, conveying the Bishop of St. Helena, in whose diocese this remote island is situated. The Bishop had been long expected, and every preparation was made to receive him. For some time previously Confirmation and instruction classes had been held and the people had been coming regularly to Holy Communion. The Bishop was received on the shore by the entire population of the island, headed by the Rev. H. M. Rogers and Mrs. Rogers, and during his short visit, from the 26th to the 29th March, he held a Confirmation Service, at which seventy-six persons received the sacred rite. Over eighty attended a Service of Holy Communion which was subsequently held. The inhabitants of this lonely island depend almost entirely for subsistence and for knowledge of the outer world on the annual or biennial visit of a ship from England. They are a simple, industrious and God-fearing people, and they are now engaged in building a new church, contributions for which, either in money or material, will be gratefully received by the Chaplain, the Rev. H. M. Rogers.

The National Church Assembly will meet for its summer session in the Great Hall of the Church House, Westminster, on July 9th and the following days. The present week is being devoted to the consideration of the Prayer Book Revision measure on the stage of revision by the House of Clergy and Laity, sitting separately. These meetings are held in the Church House and are open to the Press as well as to the public. The amendments made by both Houses will subsequently be considered by the House of Bishops, who will at a later stage present the measure in its completed form to the National Assembly for final approval or rejection.

The Bishop of Truro, Dr. Warman, who up to the time of his appointment as Bishop was regarded as a leading light amongst Evangelicals, appears to have changed his views considerably recently. He has now become a patron and suporter of the Anglo-Catholic movement, and also a strenuous advocate for Prayer Book Revision including that of the Communion Office. In this respect he is following the footsteps of the Bishop of Chelmsford, Dr. Watts-Ditchfield, a very pronounced Evangelical before his consecration as a Bishop, but now a keen advocate of the proposed revision.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The Rev. W. G. Waterworth, who was home on furlough for some time, has returned to his station at Ashanti, Gold Coast.

Mrs. Punshon, wife of the late Rev. W. Morley Punshon, who died in 1881, has died at Bournemouth, where she took a prominent part in the work of the Methodist Church. Dr. Punchon lectured in Dublin in June, 1874.

The members of the Methodist Church in the Enniskillen district greatly regret the removal of the Rev. W. Moore, who has been transferred to Bandon, Co. Cork. Mr. Moore had been Chairman of the Enniskillen Synod for the past eight years.

The report presented to the Methodist Missionary Society's Committee at its last meeting showed that the income up to date was nearly £63,000, an increase of £12,000, which includes a special gift of £10,000. The legacy account has also received replenishment, and Ireland has done nobly in the matter of early payments. It was decided that the Committee should hold its May session at Swanwick next year.

It is reported that two Rumanian fishermen on the Dniester were attacked by Soviet troops, who carried one of them off as a hostage.

ROWING.

HENLEY ROYAL REGATTA.

Every one of Henley's eight trophies will remain at home for at least the next twelve months. The last of the invaders went out yesterday when Donald Gollan, an English-born son of an Australian, defeated the Canadian amateur champion, Hilton A. Belyea, in the semi-final round of the Diamond Sculls, taken over to America last year by W. M. Hoover. Gollan thus has had quite a curious experience in this season's Royal Regatta. First of all he knocked out Hoover; next he beat another American in R. S. Codman, and the old Cantab's latest achievement was to dispose of Belyea, the Canadian sculler. The final for the Diamonds rests to-day, therefore, between Gollan and the beginner, M. K. Morris (London R.C.), who last evening defeated – previous holder in the younger Beresford. The latter is also rowing 3 in the Thames Grand Eight. Gollan and Morris look a finely matched pair, and there is sure to be a tremendous race, for Gollan never has sculled better than at present; while the pace of Morris has not yet been seen.

Thames did little more than paddle to beat Brasenose College (Oxford) in the second semi-final for the Grand, but the Eton Vikings were unable to beat a good Pembroke College crew, the head of the river at Cambridge. Magnificently stroked by A. B. Stobart, the Vikings led all the way to the mile, when Pembroke, timing their effort to a nicety, went away to win by half a length, in the fastest time recorded over the regatta and course—6 mins. 35 secs. This will probably not be beaten this year, for yesterday's conditions were most favourable, with a following wind and glorious sunshine, which made the heat almost unbearable. The attendance was not particularly large, and, apart from First Trinity's defeat in the Ladies' Plate, the majority of the results, in some quite ordinary racing, proved pretty much in accordance with anticipations. Details:—

GRAND CHALLENGE CUP.

Heat 6—Bucks Station—Pembroke College (Cambridge), 1; Berks Station—Eton Vikings Club, 2. At a faster stroke, Vikings led out, and at Fawley had gained three parts of a length in 3 mins. Pembroke never faltered, and, admirably stroked, gradually overhauled the Etonians. Vikings only had a canvas at the mile, but shortly afterwards Pembroke spurted brilliantly, and won a splendid race by half a length. Time—6 mins. 35 secs.

Heat 7—Berks Station—Thames R.C., 1; Bucks Station—Brasenose College (Oxford), 2. An easy race for Thames, who won in a strong paddling. Well clear at Fawley in 3 mins. 9 secs., Thames let their opponents up nearing the finish, and won sitting up by three parts of a length. Time—6 mins. 58 secs.

LADIES' CHALLENGE PLATE.

Heat 15—Berks Station—Trinity College (Oxford), 1; Bucks Station—First Trinity (Cambridge), 2. First Trinity led all the way to Fawley, when they had three parts of a length. Trinity then went up steadily, but the Oxonians equalised at the mile and won by a length and a half. Time—6 mins. 45 secs.

Heat 16—Berks Station—Jesus College (Cambridge), 1; Bucks Station—Lincoln College (Oxford), 2. Lincoln made the pace, but Jesus College quickly went up level, and were nearly clear at Fawley. Lincoln were finished, and shortly afterwards, and Jesus College won by a length and a quarter. Time—6 mins. 50 secs.

Heat 16—Berks Station—First Trinity (Cambridge), 1; Bucks Station—Thames R.C., 2. Won by a length. Time—7 mins. 2 secs.

Heat 10—Berks Station—W. H. D. Gollan (Leander Club), 1; Bucks Station—Hilton A. Belyea (St. John A.R.C., Canada), 2. Gollan anticipated the start, and was called back. On restarting Gollan raced right away, and possessed a long lead at Fawley. Gollan dropped down to a strong paddle, and won easily by a length and a quarter. Time—8 mins. 11 secs.

Heat 11—Berks Station—M. K. Morris (London R.C.), 1; Bucks Station—J. Beresford, jun. (Thames R.C.), 2. After the first few strokes Morris in the sheltered station sculled right away and was four lengths up at Fawley. Morris won easily by three lengths. Time—8 mins. 5 secs.

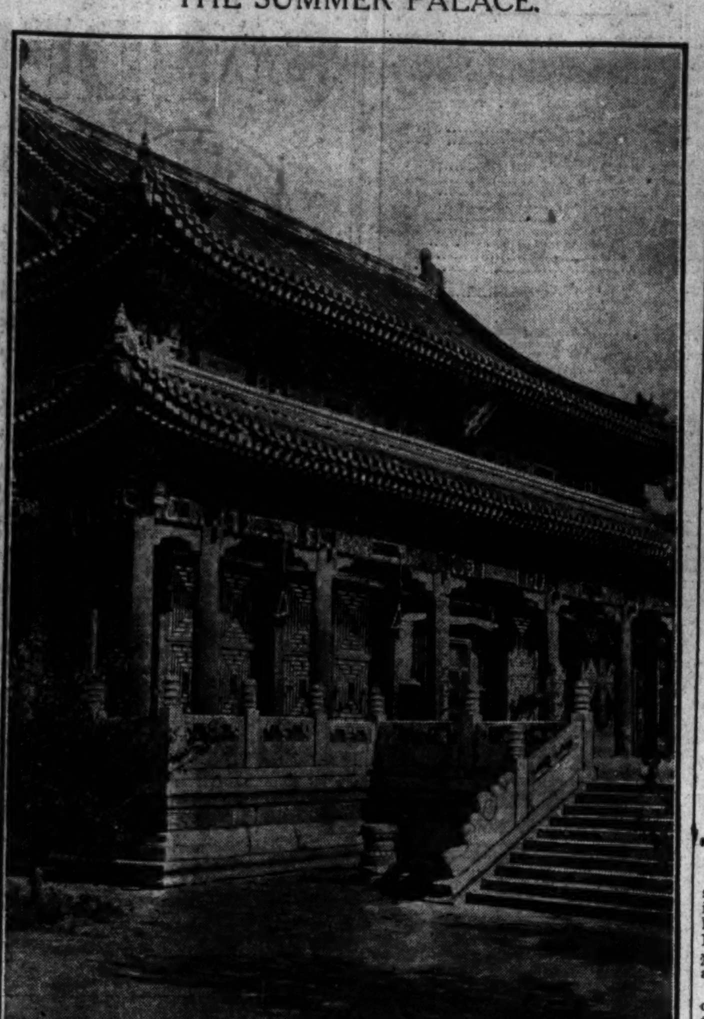
THE SUMMER PALACE.



THREE AUSTRIAN PERSONALITIES.

Elisabeth, Empress of Austria, Queen of Hungary

(BY MATUSCHKA.)

IN 1837 Ludovica, the wife of Maximilian Joseph I. of Bavaria, bore him a daughter. It was Christmas Eve, and the story goes that the King, because of his own joy gave succour to a poor peasant woman whom he met as she was going home to a needy family. Yet joy was not to be the daughter's part, for she was "born to splendour and sorrow."

In 1853 her cousin, the young Emperor of Austria, came to Bavaria. He was to meet there Elisabeth's elder sister. But it chanced that he saw Elisabeth first. She greeted him with the words, "Grüss Gott Vetter. Dich soll ich nicht sehen." "God be with you, cousin. I am not to see you." Indeed, she was hustled away by her governess, but Francis Joseph I. had made his choice. He declared that he would marry Elizabeth or no one.

Her parents, while resenting the slight on their elder daughter, acquiesced in the inevitable. When Elizabeth was told of the serious attitude adopted by the cousin whom she had chaffed, she declared, astounded, "It is impossible; I am only a child." Yet still a child she became Empress of Austria, Queen of Hungary, and in putting on the crown she put on therewith a life-long sorrow.

As a girl, Elizabeth had been used to a simple life in the Bavarian hills. She had been brought up, too, on lines of the strictest economy—indeed, she used to knit and sew to increase her pocket money. She wandered about at will, going into the cottages, and talking there to the peasant women—making friends with people, taking them at their own value.

Thus the life at Court was irksome to her, and it was made doubly irksome by her mother-in-law, the Archduchess Sophie, who was her enemy from the first. She treated her as a "troublesome child," and gave her this name. Her husband's great aunt was the Queen Marie Antoinette, as unfortunate a Queen as Elisabeth was destined to be, and like her, Elisabeth disdained the rules of Court etiquette. Once she came to a Court dinner without her gloves, and as the result of this lapse, and others of a similar nature, the Archduchess Sophie had her children taken away from her and put in a separate wing of the palace, saying that she was not fit to bring up children, as she did not know how to conduct herself.

When Elizabeth came to Vienna first she went about the town freely, going to all sorts of shops that took her fancy, buying even, so the Viennese will tell you, little hot sausages from the sausage-men in the street. For this she was severely reprimanded—there was constant war between herself and the elderly ladies of the palace. By degrees estrangement grew up between the Emperor and her. He returned to his bachelor manners and customs, and as these were of no virtuous kind, they did not draw him nearer to his wife, whose early upbringing was strict and virtuous.

Soon she wearied of the political intrigue of Court life, and the eternal artificiality that surrounded her, and she left Austria to visit foreign countries. But before she did this she went to that country, almost foreign to Austria, foreign as much, at any rate, to it as Ireland is to England: Hungary.

There had been at this time the greatest bitterness and ill-will in Hungary towards Austria. Before his marriage Francis Joseph had been unable to alter it. But it is said of Elisabeth that she "melted the ice round the Hungarians' hearts." It may be, indeed, that she sympathised with their position, having heard in her own unhappy position ill words being spoken of the Hungarian people. She sympathised with all people that were suffering and oppressed, and it may have been some of that sympathy that drew her to Ireland, for Ireland was one of the countries she visited again and again, travelling incognito as an Austrian Countess. So great was her particular love for Hungary that once when travelling there a lady-in-waiting signed her name in a book as Empress of Austria. Elisabeth, on noticing it, crossed out the words, and wrote beneath in the Hungarian language, "Elisabeth, Hungarian Queen."

For many years Elisabeth was in disfavour at Court for another reason. She had no son. At last, in 1880, Rudolf was born. He was the unhappy Crown Prince of Austria, who died in his early youth by his own hand, ending at the same time the life of his mistress, Baroness Marie Veczsera, a Hungarian lady.

Elisabeth was much interested in literature and art. She translated Schopenhauer, and made a study of Voltaire and Rousseau. She had no care for power, no grasping desires, and thus from the first was despised and misunderstood by her mother-in-law, who was both narrow-minded and wordly. Elisabeth was interested, however, in the welfare of her poorer subjects, those of the working classes, and urged that legal reforms should be made to assist them. It was surely a gruesome irony that fate had destined her to be a victim to the knife of one of those whom she had sought to free. For Luccheui, who assassinated her in Geneva in 1899, declared that he saw in her, not a woman, an Empress—it was "the crown" he wished to strike. She feared often for her husband's life from political attacks, but not for her own: "I," she said, "myself am too unimportant a personage to attract their malevolence—I have never meddled in politics or affairs of State."

On her way to the boat in Geneva, after the knife had been plunged into her body beneath the fourth rib, entering heart and lungs, this courageous woman actually walked with assistance eighty steps to the vessel, where she died. She was then in her sixtieth year.

On hearing the news the unhappy Emperor said: "What man could be found to attack such a woman whose life was spent in doing good and who never injured any person." Surely the anarchist Luccheui was strange above all anarchists, and how strangely her own words ring: "I ask nothing from humanity, except that they do not interfere with me." It was a small request, perhaps—but it was not granted her.

THE WALKING STICK.

THE walking stick, apart from its historical interest, has for ages been used as a means of support.

Although we can scarcely trace its history back to the Garden of Eden, yet we venture to say that it has been used by Cain as a companion in his affliction in all his enforced and solitary wanderings in his native land.

Be that as it may, we know that the stick was well known during the Heroic period, since it was referred to in the enigma put forth by the Sphinx and solved by Oedipus:

Of the pilgrim's staff of the Middle Ages students of history are quite aware. This staff was peculiarly constructed. It not only served the purpose of a walking stick, but was so planned that the upper part contained a large receptacle wherein certain religious relics were kept and a gourd bottle of water carried.

It is said that through this, too, the silkworm was introduced into Europe by missionaries who, by concealing the eggs of the silkworm in this hollow stick, deceived the Chinese, ever jealous of their commerce, and returned in triumph to Constantinople with the spoils of the East. To-day on the frontier Free State territory a walking stick of this kind would be, for obvious reasons, a valuable acquisition.

From portraits of eminent persons of the sixteenth century we can see that even in our country walking sticks richly mounted and adorned with gold, were very much in use.

In the middle of the seventeenth century they appeared to have increased in luxury, both in respect to the mountings and the material of which they were made. The stick, then in use, was of slender proportions, but richly mounted with gold, silver, even precious stones. They were preserved in cases of shagreen, in which we have mention in the poem, "Rape of the Lock," by Pope:—

"Sir Plume, of amber snuff-box justly vain,
And the nice conduct of a clouded cane."

Many of us remember the days of the strong bamboo cane, which the "Beau of Brummels" of that period flourished and carried with no little grace; and the stout, knotted stick—the more knots the better—used with such deadly skill in the time of the faction fights. Each knot, it was said by some wag of the day, was a physical argument in itself.

J. P. G.

"CEALCHYLLE."

NOT some newly discovered district in remote Africa, not some romantic island of the sea, not even a village in the West of Ireland crying out for the awakening touch of a George Birmingham, but accessible from mid-London by 'bus or underground is Cealchylle, alias Chelcith, alias Chelsea.

Herself a true-born Bohemian, Chelsea can afford to laugh at the vagaries of fashion, now she is popular by reason of such diverse things as buns or literature, or art, or china, now she is overlooked, now the limelight of history plays on her old face, now the shadows of temporary oblivion fall upon it.

Chelsea sits indifferently at home regarding the changing world from some old-fashioned window; she is like a contented old beauty whose day is over, and who is now prepared to sit and feast on the memories of a triumphant past. She has a tolerant smile for present fame, she knows that her past celebrity is a good security against the danger of being completely and entirely forgotten.

Chelsea has rocked too many cradles of fame for that, and however the dictum may have lost caste in some circles that the "hand that rocks the cradle rules the world" it still holds good in the world of fame. Chelsea has too many children to rise up and call her, if not blessed, well known to ever be disowned.

She has marched down time from the days of the old Doomsday Book; she has harboured all sorts and conditions of men, and of women; she has conversed with the great and the good, talked philosophy with the learned, jested with the foolish, sported with kings.

If Chelsea would hold a ghostly dinner party what illustrious shades would gather there—shades belonging to every century, from Sir Thomas More down to the latest yesterday, little Queen Elizabeth, and possibly Mary Queen of Scots. Certainly Charles II. and his beloved Nell, Walpole, the Kingsley brothers, Turner, Rosetti, Swinburne, George Eliot, Carlyle, and many others whose number pass beyond counting.

But Chelsea could gather a very attractive party of the famous living, too, if she so wished, for although they cry that "Chelsea is 'going down,'" the famous go back to her, drawn possibly as much by her own charm as by the charm of her associations.

And Chelsea smiles—as long as Art lives in London—she knows she will hold her own.

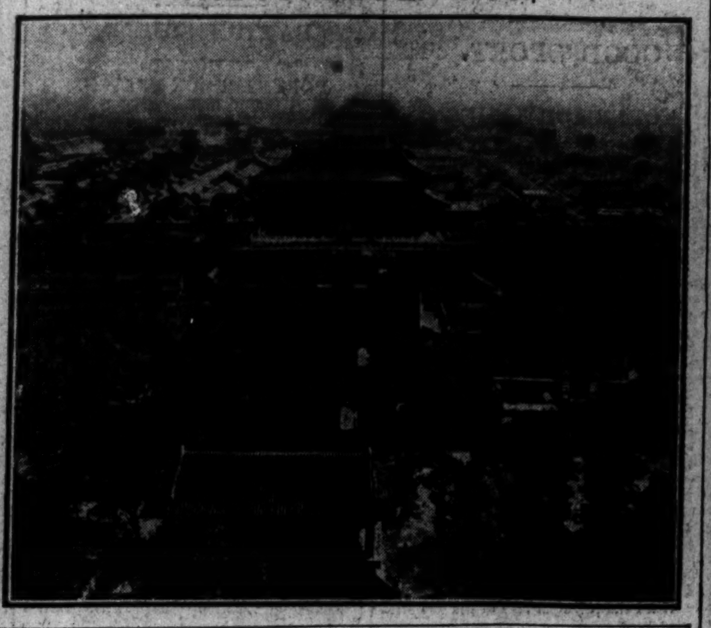
THE FORBIDDEN CITY.



"THE PURPLE FORBIDDEN CITY."

A Disastrous Fire—The Seat of Kublai Khan—Marco Polo's Description.

THE mysterious outbreak of fire which occurred last week in the "Purple Forbidden City" at Pekin has destroyed some of the most ancient and beautiful buildings in the world. Three famous palaces, known as the Chung Cheng-tien, the Chien Fu-Kung, and the Yen Chun-Keh, were completely gutted, and many priceless works of art perished in the fire.

The outbreak was discovered by an official of the British Embassy, who immediately gave the alarm, and the ex-Emperor was one of the most active among those who tried to prevent the spread of the flames.

For some reason, probably because they were afraid of looting, the guards at the former Imperial Palace refused to permit either Chinese or foreign fire brigades to enter the Forbidden City. After a long consultation, however, common-sense prevailed, and the brigades were allowed to get to work. By this time, unfortunately, several of the most beautiful buildings had been destroyed; but, by cutting down a number of trees and demolishing some of the smaller buildings, the area of destruction was limited.

Pekin is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. From the walls it looks like a city of gardens, with its upturned roofs of temples, palaces, and mansions glittering with blue, green and yellow tiles among rich groves of trees. Within the old Tartar City, part of which was built by Kublai Khan, arose the Imperial City, which in turn enclosed the Purple Forbidden City, where the former Emperor's palace stood. In this palace, whose halls were not surpassed anywhere for the magnificence of their proportions and their semi-barbaric grandeur, the "Son of Heaven" used to hold his Court and receive the congratulations of his Ministers at the annual seasons of rejoicing.

The other buildings in the Forbidden City included the residences of the highest dignitaries of the Empire, while just outside, towards the South, were the offices of the six official boards, which used to direct the business of the eighteen provinces. It was in the Yamen of one of those boards that Lord Elgin signed the Treaty after the war in 1860.

Writing about the Imperial Palace the great traveller of olden times, Marco Polo, says:—"You must know that for three months in the year—to wit, December, January, and February—the Great Khan resides in the capital city of Cathay, which is called Cambaluc. In that city stands his great palace, and now I will tell you what it is like. It is enclosed all round by a great wall forming a square, each side of which is a mile in length. . . It is also very thick and a good round . . . . At each angle of the wall there is a very fine and rich palace, in which the war harness of the Emperor is kept. Also, midway between every two of those corner palaces, there is another of the like; so that, taking the whole compass of the enclosure, you find eight fine palaces stored with the great lords' harness of war . . .

"In the middle of the second enclosure is the lord's great palace, and I will tell you what it is like. You must know that it is the greatest palace that ever was. The palace itself hath no upper storey, but is all on the ground floor. Only the basement is raised some ten palms above the surrounding soil, and this elevation is retained by a wall of marble raised to the level of the paving two spaces in width and projecting beyond the base of the palace so as to form a kind of terrace walk by which people can pass round the building, and which is exposed to view; whilst on the outer edge of the wall there is a very fine pillared balustrade, and up to this the people are allowed to go.

"The roof is very lofty, and the walls of the palace are all covered with golden silver. They are also adorned with representations of dragons, beasts, and birds, knights and idols, and sundry other subjects, and on the ceiling, too, you can see nothing but gold and silver and painting. . . The hall of the palace is so large that it could easily dine 6,000 people, and it is quite a marvel to see how many rooms there are besides.

"The building is altogether so vast, so rich, and so beautiful that no man on earth could design anything superior to it. The outside of the roof also is all covered with vermilion and yellow and green and blue and other hues, which are fixed with a varnish so fine and exquisite that they shine like crystal, and lend a respondent lustre to the palace as seen for a great way round. . .

"On the top of the hill there is a peculiar, fine palace, which is all green inside and out, and thus the hill and the trees and the palace form together a charming spectacle, and it is marvellous to see their uniformity of colour. Everybody who sees them is delighted, and the Great Khan has caused this beautiful prospect to be formed for the comfort and solace and delectation of his heart."

MY TENT AT ANNAGASSAN (CO. LOUTH).

The shore at Annagassan on a summer day of smiles,
The wilderness of shining sand that spreads for miles and miles;
Search all along the sea coast from Fairhead to Saltee Isles,
There is not a strand to match with Annagassan.

I am dreaming in the sunset, and across the sleepy bay
I can see the mountain ranges in their lovely blue array;
And I caught Slieve Donard peeping, very faint and far away,
From my lonely little tent at Annagassan.

I would rather have my simple tent, away from city din,
And shift it here and shift it there whene'er the tide comes in,
And take my chance of drowning and risk Dame Fortune's spin
Than leave the shining sands of Annagassan.

I have heard the drowsy boom of surf on far Pacific shores,
And seen it flying white at night across the foamy bars,
But give me that white ridge of sea beneath the wandering stars
I saw last night creep in at Annagassan.

I have stood beneath the Southern Cross, star-gemmed in burnished gold,
And felt the wonder of the night across the heated wold,
But to-night the Great Bear burning blue above Slieve Gallion old
Has an equal glory seen from Annagassan.

I have roamed the world and wandered round among the dusky races;
In ships upon the raging sea and far-off lonely places;
And the lovely spots of God's sweet earth are old familiar faces,
But to-night I saw the moon on Annagassan.

Moonlight flooding all the mountains, with Slieve Donard like a midge
Perched across the blue-capped distance just beyond the ocean's ridge;
Moonlight on the silent harbour and the Christ beside the bridge
Keeping guard above the homes of Annagassan!

RANDAL McDONNELL.

SATURDAY.

(BY G. E. M.)

THE morning was grey, but promising, with the warm caressing breath of June. On one side of the old city lies the blue expanse of Dublin Bay, and on the other the Dublin mountains stand faintly amethyst against a wonderful sky dappled with mares' tails, both calling, luring one away from everyday humdrum things of the week. The choice was difficult, and so, ultimately, was the road, for I chose the mountains.

Thermos and a day's rations in a textile bag, I boarded a Rathfarnham tram, and was there joined by another of the old Brigade. By this time the clouds had rolled away, leaving a sky of unbroken azure, and, bidding farewell to the hard facts of reality, we turned our faces towards the Hill of Enchantment. A long, hot walk, and, more than once, our thoughts ran to taxis, but alas! such are only for the poor rich folk, and not for vagabonds like us!

Up we toiled, high hedges on either side, and a blazing sun overhead; then, striking the open road, hedges, barbed wire fences, and all restraints left behind, we struck up across the shoulder of the hill, with the heather springing under out feet, and all nature rushing to welcome us poor fugitives from the artificialities of life. We turned to take a breather then, and there lay Dublin at our feet, wrapped in a soft transforming haze, all her disfiguring slums, her ruined buildings obliterated by kindly distance.

The stark reality of secret lives which, in the city, peers at one from street corners, and from grimy tenement windows, seems impossible in so fair a picture. Beyond the city, like jewels in a sapphire sea, were Howth, Ireland's Eye, and Lambay Island, while further north a level stretch of golden sand enticed us from afar. And suddenly an old song I had not heard for years leaped from the past:—

"Oh Bay of Dublin,
My heart's a-troublin',
For no one knows
How dear thou art to me."

"Another day," we say apologetically, "we'll go to Portmarnock," and then on again till we call a halt for lunch.

We are miles from anywhere. There is not one jarring note. The stillness is unbroken save for the hum of honey bees and the joyous melody of a lark soaring upward. Now and then a lamb bleats hungarily from the farther hillside, and a snipe rising suddenly almost at our feet, whirring a shrill goat-like call with its wings. Here in the solitude and beauty of the hills there is peace. The irk of convention and things sophisticated melt away, and life takes on a different aspect. The tragedy of Yesterday and the menace of To-morow are banished. Only To-day exists.

Presently it is evening, and we must take the road again. It is rough; it is thick in dust, and it leads back to things that are difficult, things that are sad, and things that seem hopeless, but down there in the murk and sordidness of material things, there will remain to us a memory—a Day of Days—a little green oasis set in life's dusty desert.

DUSE AND OLD AGE.

(BY J. S. COLLIS.)

I SUPPOSE it is only one in a million persons who are able to conquer old age—more especially in the case of actresses. For the actress age is a much more serious matter than for any other artist. The painter, the poet, the musician can go doddering on till he falls into the grave. He need not even "dodder," if it is true that Goethe wrote Faust at eighty. But, unless an actress has got something more than a figure, a face, and a voice, she will be finished at an age when some men of letters are only starting.

In fact, Age is the one perfect critic of an actress's real worth. This was tragically proved in the case of Sarah Bernhardt. No woman had greater will power than she, and no woman gave Age a harder battle, or met it with more courageous words. "One must know how to will—always, and in spite of all," she said. "I have fought with Time and been stronger than Time; I have striven with illness and conquered it; I have battled with death and repulsed it—requesting it to come back later. That is the secret of my youth."

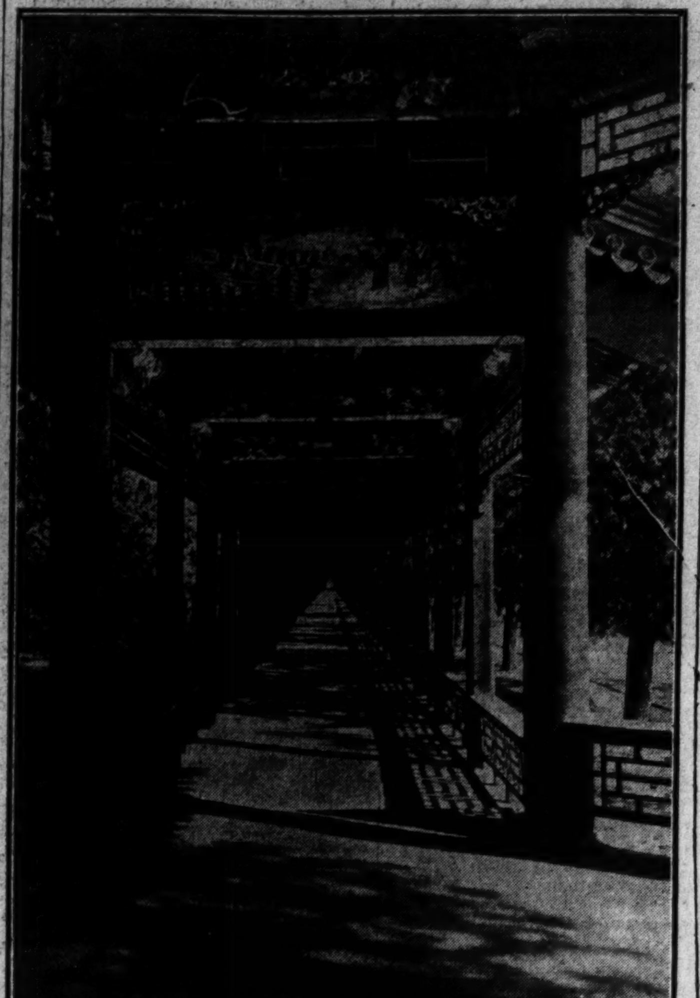
But it was all in vain. Her last visit to London was a failure. Her dresses and diamonds, her incarnadined finger-tips, her "elaborate Mona Lisa smile and lips like a newly-painted pillar-box, coyly disclosing the brilliant row of teeth" were unable to conceal the fact that she was an old woman who had no intellectual but only an emotional genius. She had fascinated the world by her person, and age robbed her of that power.

Not so with Duse. Age has no terrors for her. Why should it? She has never borrowed her complexion in her life; and her acting is intellectual acting from beginning to end. Since it has not been her custom in the past to whip herself up into violent furies there is no need for her to do it now as a part of a ridiculous Dusian tradition. Her white hair and worn face have a rude beauty of their own, which at once impresses itself upon the audience.

Thus her visit to London again has been one uninterrupted triumph. When she stood upon the stage as M. Alving in Ibsen's terrible play of "Ghosts" you could feel the ghosts of "ideals" surrounding her, baulking her happiness, dragging her down, and causing the madness of her son. When she was the Lady of the Sea you felt her longing, and understood her tears, though the slowness of the play and the deadness of the language would have seemed an impossible barrier for any other actress to break down.

In print it looks foolish, but it was well worth going in even to see her bowing to the audience at the finish of the acts. It must have left a permanent impression upon the minds of all who saw her do it. She was called back again and again. Each time she came back it was with a sort of forlorn weariness of indescribable grace. She never started bowing until the curtain was nearly down, then she bent in perfect time with it, so that it went down upon her bending form. It seemed to me that the number of times she was called back was greatly increased by the desire of the audience to see again and again such an astonishing feat of grace.

PAU YUN TIEN: THE LONG GALLERY.



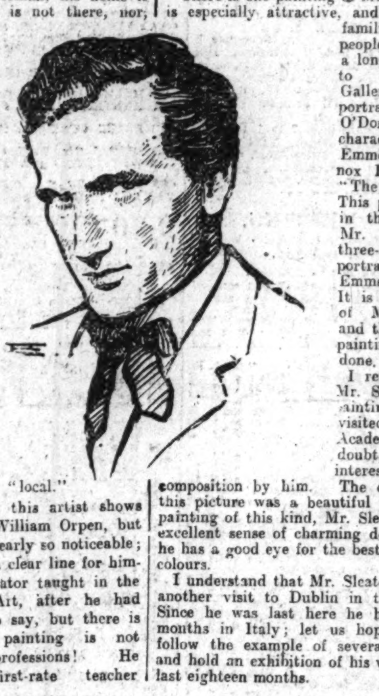
SOME IRISH ARTISTS

XV.—Mr. James Sleator.

(BY BRUYERE.)

IT was in 1915 that Mr. James Sleator made his first real success in Dublin, with a self portrait, which was exhibited in the Royal Hibernian Academy of that year. Since then Mr. Sleator has become exceedingly well known, particularly as a painter of portraits, though he is also much appreciated for his still-life work. He is one of the more recent members of the R.H.A., being elected to that body a few years ago.

Mr. Sleator is an Ulsterman, his home is in Belfast itself, but he is not there, nor, alas, anywhere in Ireland, for the greater part of his time. He is one of those Irish artists who are all too seldom to be found in Ireland. At the same time, it is only fair to say at once that Mr. Sleator's work does not lose, but gains, through his wanderings. A few years ago he went to Spain, and more recently he spent a considerable time in Italy. These visits have tended to broaden his work very much, indeed. It is always to the good that artists should see the work of the great masters, and get to know what their contemporaries in other countries are doing, lest their outlook become too limited, and their own productions too "local."



In his earlier portraits, this artist shows a strong influence of Sir William Orpen, but now that influence is not nearly so noticeable; he seems to have cut out a clear line for himself. For a while Mr. Sleator taught in the Metropolitan School of Art, after he had "qualified," one wants to say, but there is really no word, for painting is not like one of the professions! He proved to be a first-rate teacher in the Life Class, and was exceptionally popular with the students in the School. He did not, however, stay very long at the Dublin School, but went off to paint portraits in Belfast, London, and other places. The portraits that he has painted include one of Mrs. Delap, which was exhibited in last year's Hibernian Academy, and one of Mr. St. John Ervine, the well-known dramatist and dramatic critic.

There is one painting of Mr. Sleator's which is especially attractive, and it ought to be familiar to Dublin people, for it was for a long period on loan to the Municipal Gallery—this is a portrait of Mr. Fred O'Donovan in the character of Robert Emmet in Mr. Lennox Robinson's play, "The Dreamers." This picture, which is in the possession of Mr. Robinson, is a three-quarter length portrait, showing Emmet in uniform. It is a good likeness of Mr. O'Donovan, and the colouring and painting are very well done.

I referred above to Mr. Sleator's still-life painting. Those who visited last year's Academy will, no doubt, remember an interesting still-life composition by him. The central thing in this picture was a beautiful green bowl. In painting of this kind, Mr. Sleator displays an excellent sense of charming design; and, too, he has a good eye for the best use of different colours.

I understand that Mr. Sleator is due to pay another visit to Dublin in the near future. Since he was last here he has spent many months in Italy; let us hope that he will follow the example of several other artists, and hold an exhibition of his work during the last eighteen months.

HAPLESS EMIGRANTS.

(BY MARCIA.)

THE submerged continent of Lemuria is now the Indian Ocean, and it is agreed on all sides that Atlantis is buried fathoms deep where the Atlantic now rolls. Even the driest of dry land, the Sahara itself, is the sand of an ancient and forgotten sea, as the shells found, intermingled, prove. Doubtless many another dried-up ocean and ancient civilisation has been lost for ever to the memory of man.

That these submerged and forgotten countries are held in atavistic memory by some birds and beasts does, perhaps, account for certain periodic migrations of theirs, resulting in great loss of life in the waters that cover the lost home of their dreams. One of the strangest of these migrations was, perhaps, that of the sand-grouse in 1863, when a species of these birds, whose native home is on the Tartar Steppes, journeyed in immense numbers to the western shores of Europe, to perish by myriads in the Atlantic waves, possibly in search of the land whither their ancestors had been wont to migrate for a million years.

Then, again, there is the more widely-known migration of the Norwegian lemmings, an event occurring about once in ten years. These curious little animals, very like our own field-mouse, but larger, with their hard black eyes, which seem to look always at objects above rather than those on their own level, are vegetarian in diet. Yet they are fierce little fighters, and will even attack a man if cornered. By their distructiveness and multiplicity they are a plague to the districts they invade, and every man's hand is against them. They infect the grass, and the cattle that partake of it are poisoned. In former times it was not unusual for the distracted farmers to send for a priest to exorcise them. In later days they have been trapped and hunted with dogs. But they are also the prey of all the wild carnivora in their neighbourhood—weasels, foxes, and hawks all pursue them. Intensely sensitive, and alarmed at even a shadow, the approach of man and beast alike affrights them, and the merest trifle adds to their nervous terror. Yet they will brace themselves to meet the enemy, real or imaginary, with a bold front, pressing their little bodies in impotent anger against any stone, and rearing, with sharp little cries of rage, to face the attack.

The worse menace from the lemming comes when the creatures decide to migrate. Nothing checks their progress when on the march; they are "invincible as an army with banners." They will scale hills and mountains and swim rivers and lakes; a host of poor little idealists on their way to a lost paradise, for the goal of their journey is sunk in the blind ocean.

Naturalists have put forth several theories as to the cause of these migrations—excessive multiplication, shortage of food, the approach of winter—all disproved. But the curious fact remains that swarms of lemmings turn their backs to the land and their faces westwards, to perish far out at sea. The sea is very shallow for a far-stretching space round those northern coasts of Norway.

Some suppose that here is sunken a portion of Atlantis, and through a deep fissure that cuts this higher sea-bottom off from Greenland it is believed the Gulf Stream used once to flow. To a warm and flowery land once familiar to their forefathers the resolute little pilgrims seek to make their way, imagining, perhaps, that the broad Atlantic is only another of the rivers and lakes they have already successfully navigated.

Poor things! One can fancy their disappointment when this ancestral memory of theirs has deluded them, and instead of swimming safe to land they find themselves, like the traveller who set out for Hy-Brasail, lost on the vast stretch of waters.

Tricks, A and B, 10; Y and Z, 3.

The interesting situation in this hand arises at Trick 7. When "Z" refuses, declarer can, of course, place both the A and Q of trumps with "Y," and can also count that he has one more trump than "Y." Therefore, unless he disposes of one of his trumps, he must win Trick 11 in his own hand, and lead up to "Y," losing the last two tricks and failing to make game. When a declarer has one trump too many the play generally known as the Grand Coup—i.e., the throwing away of a trump becomes necessary.

That is the position in which "B" finds himself, and the fact that his partner's cards are all winners does not affect the situation. "Y" may have two clubs and two spades, and be able to ruff the third club, but, even if that is so, the Coup which it may not gain cannot lose. Should declarer discard a club on the spade, "Y," if he be a sound player, will count the trumps and know that if he refuses to trump, declarer must ruff the 11th trick, and then lead up to the ace and queen of trumps. Should "Y" at Trick 7 play the ace of hearts, neither the result or the method of play is affected.

FINAL DAY AT NEWMARKET.

SICYON'S BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE.

TWO CLEVER TWO-YEAR-OLD WINNERS.

(From Our Travelling Correspondent.)

NEWMARKET, Friday Night.

The yearling sales concluded last night on rather a low note. Of the four from the Ballymany Stud only the half-sister to Soldennis was sold, Lord George Dundas taking her for 820 guineas. This was the highest price at the evening session.

Tropical weather marked the conclusion this afternoon of the First July Meeting. The heat really was terrific, and there was hardly a suggestion of a breeze to mitigate its fierceness. The racing was, on the whole, good, and we saw a two-year-old of the highest class in Ducks and Drakes win the Fulbourne Stakes in a canter. It was considered that Dalnamin would be his most dangerous rival, and the betting was for a long time fairly close between them, but Ducks and Drakes wound up the stronger favourite. In the race he allowed Dalnamin to lead him for two furlongs, and then going to the front won at his leisure. Considering that Druid's Orb had given this colt 7lb. and an easy beating at Ascot, one must assume that Lord Blandford's colt is quite the best of his sex among the two-year-olds of this season.

The other important two-year-old race—Division I. of the Princess Stakes—went to Tilia, one of the animals whom Lord Lonsdale has leased from the National Stud. She beat Ballast cleverly by a head, after having always had slightly the better of a close finish.

STRATFORD BEATEN BY 20 TO 1 CHANCE.

It is not surprising to see Stratford get beaten, because he will not struggle when he is challenged; but to see him beaten by a horse like Fast and Furious is a little astonishing, for two months ago Fast and Furious was incapable of winning a selling race at York. To-day he was a 20 to 1 chance, and a very short price was taken about Stratford. The latter was in front at the distance, but he deliberately turned it up when challenged, and allowed himself to be beaten. There was not a shilling for the winner, and the Ring had their best race of the meeting.

The Waterbeach Handicap was remarkable for a brilliant performance by Sicyon, who, carrying 10st. 2lb., beat Shri easily by a couple of lengths. This is a very speedy filly, who had run well in the Oaks, and she was a very hot favourite here; but Sicyon, whose great, long-striding action was admirably adapted to this course, gave her 23lb. and beat her without an effort.

This brilliant sprinter had seemed to have gone off in the last month, but he reasserted himself in no uncertain fashion again this afternoon. Soldennis again ran well without gaining the premier honours. He was slowly away, and was baulked for an opening before losing second place by a length to Shri.

The Charles O'Malley filly, O! Julia, was made favourite for Division II. of the Princess Stakes, and she won it practically all the way from the dark San Utar and White Bread. The latter was very unlucky, for she lost several lengths at the start.

TO-DAY AT ALEXANDRA PARK.

The London Cup, or "Cockney's Derby," is due this afternoon at Alexandra Park. They are not a particularly brilliant lot of horses engaged. Lord of Burghley has a big chance after his display at Brighton, and so, too, has Bart Snowball. It may, however, be best to trust to SUN CHARMER, who, I am told, is very well, and is expected to go very close. WYKEHAM is something like a good thing for the Regent Two-Year-Old Plate, and SCANDALOUS should win the Juvenile Selling Plate.

BALDOYLE.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

Popular Baldoyle will to-day be the scene of what promises to be a very enjoyable meeting, and the sport should attain to an interesting standard. Thanks to the sandy nature of the soil, the going here is seldom as hard as at other venues during a dry spell, and runners are expected to be forthcoming in satisfactory numbers, so that the prospects are bright. Some of the following may win:—

Malahide Plate—Eagerloon or Duleek.
Portmarnock Plate—Remember Me.
Sutton Plate—Bolshevist; if absent, Melra.
Stewards' Plate—Mr. Parkinson's selected.

Great pains have been taken to keep the going in first-class order, as, indeed, it is, considering the recent weather. The London Cup presents rather an open appearance, the following being a list of the Plas Newydd, I have no doubt, will start a good favourite. I rate his chance very highly, for the win over this distance at Chester suggests that he can negotiate the turns. The danger I take to be Lord of Burghley and Thorndown. The first-named has been running forward of late, and must have a big chance, but I fear he is not always inclined to do his best, and I prefer Thorndown, who ran well at Ascot behind East Tor. Sun Charmer may create a surprise, and I have reason to believe that he is quite well fancied, while that old rogue, Palomides, will usually consent to do his best on the course. I think, however, that the issue lies between Plas Newydd and Thorndown, and suggest that the latter each way may be the best investment. Selections:—

WORCESTER.

GOOD SPORT.

TOBERMORY WINS PRINCIPAL EVENT.

As was anticipated, the weather was of a most brilliant description for the concluding day's racing at Worcester, and a large attendance had the satisfaction of watching some close and interesting racing, in which fairly large fields figured.

Despite the hard going, which caused any belated starter to be enveloped in a reddish dust, the afternoon's racing was singularly striking, inasmuch as two animals, Georgy Porgy, belonging to Mrs. Bendir, and Bees in Amber, owned by Mr. C. W. S. Whitburn, were enjoying their first outing this season, and both proved successful.

Young Hine, the Wrenbury jockey, had the leg up on Bees in Amber, and this was his eleventh success. It is interesting to record that on the occasion of his first success, on Fiver at Newmarket during the war, Lord Jersey presented him with a diamond and sapphire breast-pin.

Mrs. Bendir did not retain her winner, for at the subsequent auction it was sold to Mr. G. N. Bennett for 290 guineas. Stanley Wootton added to his list of successes when he captured the principal race of the day with Tobermory.

BARTON SHIELD.

PORTMARNOCK BEATEN.

Hermitage and Milltown palyed their way into the final of the Barton Shield continuous foursomes at Dollymount last evening, and at two o'clock to-day will meet in the final.

In the first match Hermitage sprang a surprise by the extent of their victory over Portmarnock, who were beaten by five holes. Their first pair, J. Conan and C. Lee, were 1 down to F. E. Davies and E. L. Macnaghten going to the tenth; but they took that and the next four holes by excellent golf, the Portmarnock men being twice out of bounds to the eleventh. The fifteenth was halved, and, after losing the sixteenth, the Hermitage pair halved the next two, to win by 3 holes. H. M. Cairnes and C. Jackson lost the first two holes to J. Brown and J. Fielding, but they were square at the fourth, the match being in the same interesting state at the turn. Cairnes and Jackson took the lead at the tenth, but it was square again at the eleventh. The Hermitage men, however, finished strongly, winning the fifteenth, sixteenth, and seventeenth, and, although they picked up going to the home green, they won by 2 holes. Milltown were nine holes better than Dun Laoghaire. F. O'Connor and H. Thrift, the leaders, turned 4 up on R. Bonas and W. G. McConnell, an advantage they had increased to 7 going to the fifteenth, and eventually they won by 6. The golf in the other match was very good, following an indifferent start; but the Milltown pair, E. Kilduff and E. Tedford, were the stronger, and 3 up at the turn, they held on to that lead to the end. The Dun Laoghaire representatives, B. J. Ward and J. S. Jameson, played sound golf on the way home; but the others had got too far ahead. Jameson holed a putt from the edge of the home green for 3, to reduce the arrears to 3 holes. Results:—

DIEPPE, Friday.

The Hon. Michael Scott, the Westward Ho, Devon, golfer, who won the French open amateur championship in 1912, and again last year, to-day qualified to defend his title against Lieutenant-Colonel Hannay, a golfer, who may be classed as a veteran, entered from the Addington Club, Croydon, Surrey.

In the semi-finals Colonel Hannay won his match from G. R. McCall, a young Oxford University player, whom he defeated on the last green, after staring at defeat as it seemed. The Hon. Michael Scott had an easier task against the American golfer, Bingham, entered from St. Cloud, Paris, but who plays most of his golf at Piping and the National Links, U.S.A.

GAELIC PASTIMES.

CHAMPIONSHIP FIXTURES.

THE MUNSTER FINALS.

The Leinster Council made hay while the sun shone doubtfully, and the announcement of Semi-Finals thus early in the 1923 programme proves energy. At headquarters to-morrow an important stage will be reached when the Kilkenny footballers meet Kildare in the Senior penultimate round. The winners meet Dublin in the final. Prior to this interesting Senior contest, Offaly and Meath will meet. At 4 p.m. Carlow and Louth are engaged, and all five counties have shown good form in the earlier games. So capable has Kilkenny football been this year that good judges count on a ready victory over Meath, and a final of the best kind when the Noremen meet Dublin in the final of the Province. By triumphing over Kildare, Kilkenny proved an advance which has been watched with interest in Gaelic circles.

At the Thatch to-morrow Brendans meet Patricks at 1 o'clock, and the Guards meet Emeralds at 2.30. All teams have strong followings, and the Guards' strength is a moot point at the moment. Slow to get into their stride, the Phœnix Park men are now asserting themselves. Indeed, so good are they at the moment, that there are prospects of the combination dominating future competitions, by reason of their wide facilities of selection. Personally, I welcome the Guards' success. It has been an uphill fight with them, and, if fundamental laws of residence and registration are respected, their entrance to and continued support of Gaelic pastimes will be an influential factor. They had been beaten consistently before they found their true strength. As soon as the fifteen players had frequent games together their work on the field of play was remarkable. They played hurling and football with unusual determination and increasing skill. The Guards' latest victory over Kickhams suggests a hurling team of merit. Kickham hurlers had been winning in every field; they won readily against University College, lost on an objection, and still continue, under Wall's captaincy, to produce good hurling. Either team might have won Wednesday's League match, which was a great test of strength.

At Thurles, last Sunday, the Munster finals in hurling and football were played, before 20,000 spectators. Tipperary won the football easily and will have a big say in the National final. For some time in this column I have been writing of Tipperary's revived hurling strength. Many of the old stalwarts figure on the present team. That peerless goalkeeper O'Meara, of Toomevara, was again in the gap. He held it well, and outside him the veteran Boherlahan captain, John Leahy, never played so well. When Arthur Donnelly scored the balancing point, from a penalty, a scene reminiscent of old days developed. For every one of the 15,000 Tipperary men present roared hoarsely.

It was a fitting end to a great game, which old-time judges speak of as the best of all time. When the teams meet in Cork for the replay a record crowd will watch every phase of the match.

Our athletic prospects against England and Scotland are subjects of frequent discussion at the moment. Most outside clockers speak favourably of the National Championship times. In one matter, I think, all outside watch-keepers agree. Woods, of Trinity, in the century was not alone inside 10 2-5 for the final, but he beat 10 1-5 by half a yard. He is a sprinter of unusual talent. He has been running consistently for two seasons, and I cannot see him far away from Abrahams next Saturday, when the rival countries meet.

CYCLING.

IRISH CYCLISTS' OLD TIMERS' FELLOWSHIP.

The midsummer meet of the Irish Cyclists Old Timers' Fellowship will take place to-day at Enniskerry, where tea will be taken at the Powerscourt Arms at 5 o'clock. The meeting place will be at Donnybrook Bridge at 3 o'clock. After tea a smoking concert will be held at the Powerscourt Arms Hotel, the arrangements for which have been made by Mr. J. C. Doyle, with the assistance of the President, Mr. W. P. Molloy, and Mr. A. B. Wayte.

YACHTING.

BELFAST LOUGH.

The second in the series of regattas on Belfast Lough took place yesterday, when there were eleven races, all but one for yachts sailing in Belfast waters. The conditions from the yachtsmen's point of view were somewhat better than on Thursday, there being a fairly steady easterly breeze, but it was not sufficient to make racing exciting, and some of the yachts were at times almost becalmed.

Neither Britannia nor Nyria competed, but as a compliment to the Royal North of Ireland Club, His Majesty's yacht was towed down the lough from Bangor to a point opposite the clubhouse, being escorted by a torpedo boat destroyer, while Nyria acted as the flag-boat. The only race in which yachts from other parts competed was the handicap for craft of fifteen to 40 tons. There were four starters, and Messrs. Hume and McCalla's Rose finished first, but as scratch boat she was allowing Captain Noel Drury's Tigris 1 min. 45 secs., and the latter yacht was credited with the win. The net time for the Tigris was 3 hrs. 38 mins. 55 secs., and for the Rose 3 hrs. 39 mins. 23 secs. The other starters in this class were Provost Adam's Vagrant; net time 3 hrs. 46 mins. 35 secs.; and Mr. Herbert Wright's Espanola, 4 hrs. 3 mins. 10 secs.

A good race was witnessed in the Island Class, with a very keen finish between Mr. James Murray's Trasnagh and Mr. R. E. Workman's Eriska. Mr. Workman's yacht won at Bangor on the previous day, but the honours now went to Trasnagh, the finishing times being:—Trasnagh, 4 hrs. 16 mins. 17 secs.; Eriska, 4 hrs. 16 mins. 21 secs. Tony, owned by Messrs. Black, Watson, Patton and Hollywood, was third, finishing at 4 hrs. 17 mins. 10 secs., and then came Mr. Robb's Iriza, 4 hrs. 20 mins. 9 secs., and Mr. McStay's Fiara, 4 hrs. 20 mins. 54 secs.

A handicap for yachts of 4 to 14 tons was won by Mr. Dunseath's Pallas, which beat Mr. McGiffin's Thetis, the winner at Bangor, by 1 min. 12 secs. Both yachts started from scratch. Mr. Steele's Zoe was third, and Mrs. Nigel Lindsay's Aurora, a six-metre yacht, fourth.

Mr. McMullan's Shimna got the winning gun in the River's Class, 1 min. 10 secs. ahead of Messrs. Jefferson's Lackagh.

Twelve yachts of the Fairy Class turned out and made a capital start, all, with two exceptions, crossing the line in less than 20 secs. after gunfire. Messrs. Elwood and Forbes' Banshee soon took the lead, and finished 2 mins. 20 secs. ahead of her nearest rival, Mr. Swan's Titania. Fiend was third, and Mousine fourth.

To-day the venue of the racing will revert to Bangor, where Britannia and Nyria will again do battle.

THIS DAY'S FIXTURES.

Royal Alfred Yacht Club—Match for 17-footers. No. 6 course. First gun, 3.30 p.m.

HANDICAPS.

D.B.S.C. Combined Classes—Punctilio allows Darthula 4 mins., Garavoge 12 mins., Innisfallen 13 mins., and Geraldine 14 mins.

D.B.S.C., Class IV.—Coquette allows Barbara 2 mins., Pansy, Phyllis, Moosmie 5 mins. each, Wendy, Vela, Blue Bird, 6 mins. each, and Tomboy 7 mins.

Howth 17-Footers—Echo allows Bobolink and Silver Moon 1 min. each, Zaida and Deliginis 6 mins. each.

Seapoint B.C., Class I. (club handicap)—Sho-Shi and Mercia III. allow Pixie 5 mins. per hour.

Seapoint B.C., Class II.—Petrel allows Geisha 2 mins., Oreen 3½ mins., Unona 4½ mins., Arline 6 mins., Elsie 8 mins., May 10½ mins., and Brunette 11 mins. per hour.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Taking it all in all, this promises to be a busy sailing afternoon, every local sailing club having matches listed. It is reasonably certain that Bobolink will come over from Howth for the R.A.Y.C. match for 17-footers, which race, therefore, should have four starters.

It will be noticed that Punctilio's win last Saturday has resulted in her having to give some quite big allowances in the D.B.S.C. Combined Classes match this afternoon. Should to-day be like its immediate predecessors the 21-footers should score over the 25-footers.

How will the first tie for the Independent Cup fare to-day? A start of four is needed to qualify the small cruisers' handicap to rank as a tie, and so far as appearances go the probable starters will not exceed that number. Of these, too, three at least are the units making up the Seapoint Club's Class I., viz.—Mercia III., Sho-Shi, and Pixie.

The Seapoint B.C. plan is admirable, and, being young, its rules are wonderfully elastic. See what its Class I. is doing to-day. The units race under D.B.S.C. auspices to-day in a D.B.S.C. race, and, at the same time, they preserve their identity as a Seapoint class, sailing for a special prize and for club marks under their own handicap, the D.B.S.C. course being accepted under their rules as a special course of the club for the time.

THE WATER WAGS—LADIES' CUP.

Three boats—Barbara (Mrs. Wigham), Wendy (Miss S. Ross), and Blue Bird (Mrs. Meldon)—in a ladies' race on Thursday evening, the wind being very light and flukey from S.S.E. It took some sailing to get the boats round the course in the light airs, and at the end of the first round Wendy led. Barbara was in front at the close of the next, and Blue Bird at the actual finish, but she was then 1 min. 12 secs. outside the ordinary time limit for a full course. It rests now with the Committee to decide whether Barbara or Blue Bird will be declared the winner.

SEAPOINT BOAT CLUB.

In very light weather two matches were sailed off on Thursday evening, the boats really being becalmed at the start. In the Class III. match Peggy came in ahead of Duggie, while Unona ran away with the Class II. match (darkness was setting in when she finished), Oreen taking second and Petrel third prize.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

DEARER MONEY CAUSES FURTHER RELAPSE. WAR FIVES UNDER 100. CONSOLS WELL OVER LOWEST. GUINNESS BETTER. CITY STEAM AND CORK ELECTRICS STRONG. TEXTILES AN DTOBACCOS DECLINE. OIL RALLY.

The advance in the official value of money, despite its anticipation for some time past, influenced a further batch of considerable realisations in nearly all classes of Securities, and as investors have drawn off for the time being to watch the effect on the markets, quotations slipped back somewhat sharply, and this change in the trend of prices was particularly noticeable in Government Funds, and cognate securities, as in these particular departments, cheap money had for the past year played an important part in determining the favourable tendency with which all are familiar. The Funds fell smartly in the absence of support, except at concessions. War Fives passed under 100; Consols finally rallied. Banks were weak and on offer, with Bank Stock and Nationals under further sale pressure. Royals held firm. Guinness Ord. rallied at opening from the previous day's weakness, but later came on offer again. City Steam was well disposed, with all stock offered freely taken, but Marconi Ord. were dull all day. Sellers of Home Rails were not very active, but there was mostly a full supply of stock. Cork Electric Tram issues advanced strongly. Drapery issues were again mostly in favour. Tobaccos and Textiles fell back 6d. to 1s. 9d., and the fall will not hurt the intrinsic position, and the "shake out" will do the market good. Burke Share issues were on offer, but the Debs. rose further. Oils were on firmer ground.

The Funds were again flat. Consols fell ⅞ to 57¼, and then rebounded to 57⅞; War Loan 5 p.c. 1/16 to 100¼ 99 15/16, ditto 4 p.c. 1/16 to 100¼, Conversion 3½ p.c. 1½ to 77½, and Irish Land 3 p.c. 1¼ to 64.

Banks closed sellers. Bank Stock fell 1½ to 243, and Nationals ⅜ to 19¼ ⅞ nominally. Royals were firm at 13⅞.

In Breweries, Guinness issues alone quoted. The Ord. recovered ¼ to 35⅞, with a subsequent set-back to 35⅝, and the Pref. were again supported at 12¼.

City Steam rose 1 to 139¼ 140.

Marconi Ord. fell 9d. to 45s. 9d., 45s. 3d.

As regards Home Rails, Great Southern fell ½ to 49½, and the Debs. 1¼ to 71. Great Northern repeated 64, and Midland Great Western 35½, but the 4½ p.c. Debs. of the latter company fell ⅝ to 70. Great Western of England fell ½ to 112.

In Trams, Cork Electric Pref. rose 7s. 4½d. to 80s., and the 4 p.c. Debs. 3½ to 50 for an odd lot.

In Drapery Shares, Pim Bros. 4 p.c. Debs. rose 1 to 65 ineffectually bid, and Switzer Pref. 5s. to 80s., while Todd Burns Pref. repeated 77s. 6d., and Arnott Pref. again closed 77s. 6d., 78s. 9d., nominally.

Manufacturing Shares were pretty nearly all weaker. British-American Tobacco fell 1s. 9d. to 97s. 9d., and Imperials 1s. 4½d. to 68s. 6d. Coats fell 4½d. to 68s. 1½d., 68s. 3d., Cottons 6d. to 50s. 6d., Courtaulds 9d. to 64s. 9d., and Spinners 9d. to 46s., but Calico Pref. rose 3d. to 18s. 3d., and Cotton Pref. 7½d. to 20s.

In Trading, etc., E. and J. Burke Ord. fell 2s. to 68s., and the Pref. 1s. to 77s., while the Debs. rose ¼ to 8⅞ 9. Hugh Moore and Alexanders Pref. fell 8d. to 55s. Irish Times 2nd Pref. were firm at 14s. 6d.

Shell Transports rose 1s. to 74s. 9d., and Mexican Eagles were called 19s. 4½d., 19s. 7½d., unofficially.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

The dividend declaration of the Provincial Bank of Ireland is more than passing interest, in view of the different rates of income tax imposed on English and Free State shareholders. The directors have declared lower dividend, 10½ per cent. per annum, as against 13½ per cent. per annum last year; but the dividend is paid free of income tax, whereas last year it was less tax. The new form of payment gives a slightly higher yield to the shareholder, and at the same time the method of paying the dividend leaves a shareholder to make a straight settlement in his tax return with the income tax people, whether it is in England at 4/6 or in the Free State at 5/-. A shareholder whose total income is below the taxable limit, or who is not assessed at the full rate, has no difficulty in getting the tax paid by the bank on his dividend returned by the claims department, the officials of which are always most courteous in assisting those who have any difficulty in properly presenting their claims.

Whether the new standard of money value now established by the 4 p.c. Bank of England rate acts as a corrective to the London New York Exchange is not easy to determine. It depends to a certain extent on the situation in the United States and how it develops. Ever since the New York Federal Reserve Banks rate was advanced in order to purify the financial position their sterling has consistently fallen away. The effect so powerful sentimentally of the debt scheme settlement has apparently worn off completely.

How dearer money is likely to affect industrial recuperation is a question arising from the higher bank rate. Allowing for all the "sunshine talk," trade has certainly been on the mend of recent months, but scarcely to the extent that might have been expected if the [illegible] question was settled and Europe given a chance to get straight. European political chaos seems to be as potent as the monetary factor in the circumstances, and so we must look to it for guidance as to the course of trade. Trade can stand the dearer cost of finance if politics will quieten.

STOCKS DEPRESSED.

QUOTATIONS STILL TUMBLING.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT AND THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The Stock markets continued in a very depressed state. Gilt-edged stocks and Foreign Government Bonds were particularly weak, and prices, more especially the latter, ruled more or less nominal. Operators found it exceedingly difficult to deal in them with any satisfaction. Quotations tumbled further in all directions. Apart from the effect of "bear" operations and the natural adjustment of prices in relation to the higher level of money value, the downward trend was precipitated by continued Continental and American selling of investment securities. This liquidation had a pronounced effect upon the whole of the Gilt-edged market, in which all stocks opened weak, remained so all day, and closed at about their worst. In point of weakness there was little to choose between any of the market leaders. Local Loans certainly registered the biggest decline, but the remainder of the list practically vied with each other in falls of ½ to 1. India stocks followed the same bent, although the 7 per cents. were exceptional in being unchanged.

LONDON STOCKS WEAK.

GENERAL FALL IN PRICES.

The Stock markets showed continued weakness, the re-adjustment of values, brought about by the change in the Bank rate, producing a little liquidation. The latter was out of proportion to the falls recorded, but there was a disinclination on the part of dealers to take stock. The tone improved slightly at the close, but there was no material recovery in prices. Gilt-edged securities were generally lower, and, although they recovered slightly during the afternoon, prices showed considerable losses on the day. British Funds were nearly all marked down. Conversions at 77 showed a loss of 1½, and Consols at 56½ had a similar fall. War Loan 5 per cent. lost ½ to 99⅝, and the 3½ per cent. at 95½ also receded ½. Funding Loan fell 1½ to 89, and Victory Bonds, Irish Land 2⅞, India 3 per cent., 3½ per cent., and 7 per cent. all showed loss of a point. India 5½ per cent. shed ½, and 5½ per cent. Treasury Bonds also fell ½. War Loan 4 per cent. eased ½, but the 4½ per cent. maintained its price at 98. Local Loans were 2 weaker at 64½. The Colonial list also showed a number of declines; Canada 4 per cent. (1940-60) fell 2, and Cape 3½ per cent., Canada 4½ per cent. (1920-25), New Zealand 4 per cent., and South Australia 5½ per cent. were a point easier. Nigerian 6 per cent. had a drop of 4 to 110. New South Wales 6½ per cent. (1930-40), on the other hand, were in demand, and showed a rise of 2 to 106 ex div.

In the FOREIGN GOVERNMENT list, declines of a moderate amount were general. Brazilian and Chinese issues were usually a point lower. Czecho-Slovakian Bonds lost a point, and Italian Rentes also closed 1 lower. French Loan 5 per cent. at 25⅜ showed a decline of ⅜, while the 4 per cent. were ½ below the previous price. Peruvian Pref. and Portuguese 3 per cent. shed ½ each.

Except in the case of Metropolitan and Metropolitan District, which fell 3½ and 2¾ respectively, and London Midland and Scottish Ord., which receded 2, losses did not exceed a point among HOME RAILS; but declines were generally distributed throughout the market. London Midland and Scottish Ord. and 4 per cent. Pref., London and North-Eastern 1st and 2nd Prefs., Southern Def.-Ord. and 5 per cent. Pref. all fell 1; and several losses of ½ to ⅝ were shown in other descriptions.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN RAILS were ½ to 1½ lower where they changed, but movements were not numerous. B.A. and Western fell 1½, "Canpacs" repeated 157 bid, Grand Trunk Pacific 4 per cent. Debs. and 4 per cent. Perp. Debs. fell 1, and Trunk 4 per cent. Guaranteed lost ½. "Leos" fell a point, and several losses of ½ were marked.

OIL SHARES MORE CHEERFUL.

RISES IN THE LEADERS.

A cheerful tendency prevailed in the Oil share market yesterday, and, although active attention was confined to a few specialities, the volume of transactions was considered satisfactory under existing conditions. This section, in fact, compared favourably with other departments of the "House," and, taken as a whole, the tone was steady. Chief attention again centred on Mexican Eagles, which, opening at the overnight level, met with a continued demand, to which the price responded, and, despite a set-back at one period of the day, fresh buyers came forward, and the final price, which was the best of the day, showed a further appreciable improvement. The two Preference issues moved up in sympathy. As regards other leading counters, Shells were firm throughout the day, a small gain being finally recorded; while Royal Dutch, although quiet, left off without alteration. Anglo-Persians were bid for at an advance during the early hours, but slipped back rather sharply in the afternoon, and Burmahs moved in like fashion. The rest of the market presented little of outstanding interest, the price movements resulting from the day's business being of a slight and irregular character. Closing prices:—

LONDON MINING MARKET DULL.

RISE IN CONSOLIDATED DIAMONDS.

The close of the business week saw no improvement in conditions in the House. Indeed, the depression was rather more pronounced than on the preceding days, and the further decline in gilt-edged securities exercised a bad influence all round. Not only was forced liquidation in progress, but there was considerable throwing off of option stocks, while in the Mining market the arrangement of preliminaries for the carry-over on Monday disclosed the fact that facilities were not in all cases so easily obtainable. Little interest was taken in the June returns from the Rand companies, though generally speaking they are satisfactory. In the Rhodesian department Chartered maintained a very firm appearance, but Cam and Motor and Selukwe were dullish; and, apart from S.A. Proprietary, the other changes were adverse. Among Diamonds, De Beers Def. were 2s. 6d. on the wrong side, but Consolidated Diamonds were something of a feature, and registered a sharp advance. West Africans were hardly mentioned, and in the Australian section Associated further eased and Sulphide Ord. were flat. Rio Tinto, in the Copper list, were again on the down grade, while among Miscellaneous descriptions Mexico Mines weakened and San Francisco fell away, though the June return from the latter is expected to be satisfactory. Santa Gertrudis were also lower, but the Canadian issues, which claimed very little attention, were maintained at the previous level. The close of the week found Kaffirs irregular. Among Far Easterns, Geduld put on 1/16 at 3 1/16, as did Modderfontein at 4 1/16 and Modder Deep at 2 1/16. Brakpan and Springs Mines declined 1/16 to 2 13/16 and 2 11/16 respectively. City Deep improved to 2 11/16, and Consolidated Main Reef hardened 3d. to 8s. 9d. Closing prices:—

LONDON WOOL SALES.

At the public sales two catalogues were offered jointly totalling 11,638 bales, and comprised 2,296 bales New South Wales and Queensland, 2,391 Victorian, 136 South Australian, 95 West Australian, 5,940 New Zealand, and 580 Cape. There was a full attendance of buyers present and fair competition ensued both from home and Continental buyers, while prices on balance manifested no material alteration. The assortment in the aggregate could not be termed attractive.

INDUSTRIALS DEPRESSED.

SET-BACK TO PRICES.

In company with other sections of the House, the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets suffered from depression, due, it was said, to fears of a further advance in the Bank rate next Thursday. This nervousness was responsible for selling by weak bulls, which, combined with heavy liquidation in some directions, caused a set-back in prices in practically every section. Tobaccos suffered rather badly, both B.A.T.'s and Imperials falling back sharply, while among Miscellaneous Trading concerns African and Easterns showed weakness. Textiles exhibited dulness, Courtaulds continuing on offer, and finishing lower again on the day. No particular feature developed in the Stores group, though the trend of values was to lower levels. With the exception of Chinese Engineering, which closed 1/16 better, Iron and Steels sagged, and Shipping shares also slipped back. Among Caterers, Lyons gave way. Sudan Plantations failed to hold the previous day's improvement among Land shares, though Bays were maintained. Dealings commenced in Skoda Works Debs. on the basis of 8-4 discount nominal, and after being called 15-10 discount at one time, and fluctuating considerably round these levels, the price finished at 10-5 discount. Renewed selling of Courtaulds was responsible for a further set-back to 63s., at which level they left off 1s. 6d. down on balance. Cellulose kept the price at 18s., though the Prefs. eased to 15s. 6d. Amalgamated Cottons and Bleachers both fell 9d.; J. Hoyle improved to 1¼. Newspaper descriptions, too, continued off colour. Amalgamated Press closed 10½d. lower at 46s., Associated Def. fell 1/16 to 8, and Daily Mirrors ⅛ to 6⅞. Dunlops weakened to 8s. 4½d. and the Prefs. to 18s. 1½d. African and Easterns were subjected to renewed liquidation, with the result that the shares finished 1s. 9d. down on the day at 33s. 6d. The Marconi group came under the influence of the general depression, and the Ord. and Prefs. lost 1/16 each at 2¼ and 2 respectively; the Debs. fell 1 to 103 and Marines 1/16 to 1 7/16, while Canadians eased to 8s. 3d.

RUBBER SHARES UNCERTAIN.

The Rubber share market was rather uncertain. There were a number of rather heavy falls, but here and there a recovery in value showed an attempt at a better tendency. Anglo-Malay rose 1s. 9d. to 22s. 6d., Malacca Pref. 7½d. to 41s. 3d., Sapumalkande 10½d. to 20s. 10½d., and Telogoredjo 1s. to 39s. 9d. Glenbevie, on the other side, fell 3s. 3d. to 28s. 3d., Labu 3s. 9d. to 25s. x.d., Lanadron 2s. 6d. to 18s. 1½d., Lendu 3s. 1½d. to 15s., Seramban 2s. 3d. to 10s. 7½d., Pegoh 1s. 3d. to 35s., and Sablas 1s. 3d. to 12s. 6d. The price of rubber fell to 13⅞d. per lb. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

TREASURY BILL TENDERS.

More than ordinary interest was centred in the tenders for Treasury bills this week because of the change in the Bank rate. The average was approximately about 2 13/16 per cent., bills dated Monday to Friday offered at £99 1s. 10d. getting 50 per cent., Saturdays at £99 2s. 1d. being allotted in full. Following these results, discount quotations were adjusted, fine three months' bank bills being 3⅛-3¼ per cent., while the new Treasuries were offering at 2⅞-2 15/16 per cent. Rates were not really stabilised. September bills were being bought by the banks at 3¼ to 3⅜ per cent. A further large amount was repaid to the Bank, but nevertheless loanable credit was ample. In some cases the charge for day to day money was down to 2 per cent., fixtures going on at 2½ per cent.

Bank Rate (Discount) changed July 5, 1923, 4%.

Gold was 2d. per ounce lower at 90s. 5d. nominal. Silver further advanced 1/16d. per ounce for both spot and forward delivery to 31 1/16d. and 31d., respectively.

An atmosphere of uncertainty still prevailed in the market for foreign exchange, and the tendency was not very good. Sterling kept fairly firm on New York at 4.55⅞-4.56 dollars; but, on the other hand, Belgian francs slumped very badly again to 96.50-96.60. French francs were weak, too, at 78.60-78.70, while German marks were quiet at 900,000-920,000. Dutch florins were firm at 11.60½-11.61, Switzerland cheapening to 26.50-26.55, Spain being better at 32.00-32.05. The following are closing quotations:—

BELFAST LINEN TRADE.

NEW CROP PROSPECTS.

POPULARITY OF DRESS LINEN.

The report of the Belfast linen trade for the period ending 4th June states that the new Irish flax crop is still very backward, but the rain which has fallen during the past fortnight has improved it very much, and with a few weeks' heat we should have an average flax crop. On the Continent supplies are very small, and the value remains the same. The high exchange has brought some buyers into the market, and this would have the effect of hardening prices if they continue purchasing with only small quantities of fibre on offer. The new flax is looking well, and it is anticipated that there will be a good crop, provided the weather for saving it is favourable.

Yarns.—During the past two weeks the market generally has been quiet. Buyers confine themselves to immediate wants. At the same time, with more looms operating and a large reduction in the quantity of cotton goods being made, stocks are being kept within moderate bounds. The slump in Belgian exchange makes competition keen.

Weavers.—Since our last report there has been some business done in dress linens, a branch of the trade which has been a very great assistance to manufacturers.

The usual stocktaking at this period of the year has interfered with business, as it normally does. Better things are expected after the holidays; generally, the stop this year will be for a full week.

Merchants.—This is usually a quiet period in the warehouse end. The ordinary day-by-day business is being received, but bulk business is rather difficult to secure.

Dress Linens.—There has been a steady inquiry for coloured dress linens for next season, and some fair-sized orders have been placed, principally for U.S.A.

Buyers are getting full advantage of the revised dyeing costs, which have recently been arranged.

CATHOLIC TOTAL ABSTINENCE FEDERATION.

At a recent Executive meeting it was decided to hold the Third Ordinary Triennial Congress (postponed from last year) on September 25 and 26 in Dublin. In view of the demand for temperance legislation the Congress will be of exceptional importance. An organising committee has been formed, and arrangements for a thoroughly representative discussion of the drink problem are in progress.

On this division is the Yard, where there is a fine slated stable, and where, with very little expenditure, a fine House can be built, as all the building material is at hand. The Land is very good Fattening Land and well watered and fenced.

LOT II.—Contains 71a. 0r. 13p., Statute measure, part of the Lands of Coxtown, held in fee simple, on the left hand side of the avenue, together with about 34 acres of Bog on the opposite side of road. This is a very good Fattening division, and very well watered and fenced. There is also a very fine lot of Larch and Scotch Timber on this Lot.

LOT III.—Contains 58a. 3r. 12p., Statute measure, part of the Lands of Coxtown and Stonestown, held in fee-simple, together with about 34 acres of Bog, as marked on Map. This Lot is comprised of the very finest of Fattening Land, and is watered by the Stonesford River, and well fenced.

LOT IV.—Consists of 2a. 1r. 13p., Statute measure, of Land, held in fee simple, on which is standing some 500 of very heavy old Scotch Timber. This Lot adjoins the public road, so that there is no difficulty in having the Timber removed.

LOT V.—Contains 11 acres, Statute measure, held in fee-simple, with a slated House and out-offices thereon.

The Bog attached to Lot I. comprises about 20 acres of the first of Turbary and about 24 acres of cut away, which is good Feeding Land. On Lots II. and III. the Bog consists in each case of about 20 acres of the first Turbary and about 14 acres of nice Feeding Land.

The Turbary Lettings of this Bog for this year were over £70.

The Poor Law Valuation of the entire Farm is £100 10/-, and this Valuation will be apportioned on the various Lots Sold.

There is a small drainage charge for Stonesford River on the whole estate, which expires in a couple of years, and which will be apportioned on each Farm.
